SEMI-CENTENNIAL OF BATTLE OF ATLANTA MAY BE CELEBRATED

IF REPORT IS FAVORABLE CHAMBER WILL START IT

Permanent Result May Follow, in Form of Great Peace Monument to Heroic Dead—Battleground May Be Marked

Atlanta's battle semi-centennial may be commemorated next year.

What may prove to have been the small beginning of a great result was witnessed Wednesday when the Atlanta chamber of commerce took the matter of a semi-centennial in hand, to study it.

At the meeting of the board of directors present of the chamber, Wednesday afternoon, with twelve directors present, President Wilmer L. Moore was directed to name a committee of five to consider the suggestion of a semi-centennial and report back to the directors. That committee, when it has been named by President Moore, will confer with various patriotic organizations and with other interests to determine whether or not the general sentiment holds the suggestion to be feasible. When that has been done and the report has been made, the directors will decree whether or not the Atlanta chamber of commerce is to put its energy behind the movement. If the decision is affirmative, the semi-centennial becomes a certainty from that moment—for what the chamber of commerce decides to do, is as good as done.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

That battle, a "draw," cost the lives of not less than 5,000 men, most of them young men. It cost the liberty of thousands of others who lay in squalid war prisons for months afterward. Otherwise it seemed then to have no effect,—but the years have revealed that its effect was tremendous. It led to the fall of Atlanta, which in turn marked the beginning of the end for the Confederacy.

Next year, on July 22, 1914, fifty years will have intervened since that battle. The great majority of the men who took part in it and survived long years have joined those who fought beside them and died. But there are yet living very many men who were there and on either side of battle that day. The semi-centennial will be the last great period of time that will find them on earth.

Therefore, in order that those survivors of war may witness the commemoration of a great event which they helped to shape, and in order too that their grandchildren and great-grandchildren may associate them personally with the occasion, the fiftieth anniversary has been considered the proper one to observe.

DIRECTORS WERE INTERESTED.

All of the directors who were present, Wednesday afternoon, joined in the discussion of this subject, which had been broached to them by President Moore several days earlier in a letter to each wherein this and other matters were suggested.

"The discussion grew very interesting," said Secretary Walter G. Cooper, Thursday morning. "The directors based several phases of the subject and found each of them attractive."

Mr. Cooper states that the chamber's action is tentative merely, and that the general opinion of Atlanta will decide whether or not the semi-centennial will be observed.

FOR PERMANENT RESULTS.

If it is observed, said he, the plans doubtless will contemplate a permanent result, perhaps in the form of a great, beautiful monument to the heroic dead of both armies. That would suggest a reunion of the Confederate and Federal survivors, like that which is to be held at Gettysburg this July upon the fiftieth anniversary of that great battle which "marked the high-tide" of the Confederacy. It is probable too, said Mr. Cooper, that the occasion would lead to the marking of the Atlanta battlefields by the national and state governments and to their preservation through all future time as a war and peace memorial.

President Moore stated Thursday that he will announce his committee appointments on the semi-centennial matter at an early date.

An invitation from Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of the Georgia School of Technology, that the chamber join in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of that school's foundation was referred by the directors to another committee of five which President Moore was authorized to appoint.

Chauffeur Driving Miss Wilson Fined For Speeding Car

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 1.—William J. Greenwood, a taxicab chauffeur, was fined $5 today for driving Miss Margaret Wilson, the president's daughter and her escort up Broadway at a speed of twenty-four miles an hour.

The policeman who appeared against Greenwood said that when he stopped the taxicab yesterday evening Greenwood told him that his passengers were the president's daughter and Boyd Fisher, manager of the Social Centre, and that they were hurrying to a hotel to pick up a professor who had to catch a train for Princeton. The policeman let the car proceed after summoning the chauffeur to court today.

Mr. Fisher was in court today and paid Greenwood's fine.

JOHN D. PATTERSON IS NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF PANAMA RAILROAD

Atlantian Succeeds B. M. Smith, of New York, and Will Sail for Panama Within the Next Few Days

$7,500 ANNUAL SALARY IS ATTACHED TO PLACE

Plum Is Considered One of the Most Desirable Within the Gift of the Federal Government

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Captain John D. Patterson, of Atlanta, was appointed today general superintendent of the Panama Railroad company at a salary of $7,500. The position is one of the fattest and most desirable plums in the federal government. The appointment is effective immediately. Captain Patterson will sail in a few days for Panama, where he will assume active management of the big government property. He succeeds B. M. Smith, of New York, resigned.

The Panama Railroad company is owned by the United States government, but is operated independently, under the direction of the Isthmus canal commission. The railroad connects the seaports of Cristobal and Colon on the Atlantic side, with the cities of Panama and Ankon on the Pacific side of the isthmus. It is a trans-continental railroad, strictly speaking, in competition with the big American lines.

The company also owns and operates a line of steamships between New York and Colon. Among this fleet are the largest ships afloat flying the United States flag. The fleet is operated in connection with the railroad, and its management will be under the control of Captain Patterson as general superintendent of the property.

The Panama railroad and its fleet of ships have been and still are indespensable to the construction of the Panama canal. Thousands of trains are operated daily in removing the dirt that is excavated from the canal, and the fleet of ships brings all supplies used in the canal zone from the states.

WORK ON CANAL.

Many evidences of a determination to hurry completion of the Panama canal are seen in today's reports from the isthmus.

The nine mammoth steam shovels digging out Culebra cut have been put on twelve-hour shifts, and working at such a rate would have a channel ready for ships through the most troublesome part of the canal by the time the locks are ready.

Latest official estimates of the earliest day on which ships could pass through the canal have been some time in October, but the rapid progress of the work may make it possible for ships to go through earlier.

There are few more popular and well liked railroad men in the south than Captain John D. Patterson, who will soon give up the position of superintendent of the Georgia joint terminals to become superintendent of the Panama Railroad company. Captain Patterson is one of the veteran railroad men of this section and has seen service in practically every railroad operating department.

FILLED MANY OFFICES.

He has served from a passenger conductor to the superintendencies of two joint terminals, The Atlanta Terminal company, and the Georgia Joint Terminals. In every instance he has seen the results of his splendid administrations. In the capacity of superintendent of the joint terminals, he has been closely associated with the heads of practically every large railroad in the southeast, and is well fitted for his new work in the canal zone.

For over twenty years he was a conductor on the Atlanta-Birmingham division of the Southern railway. He achieved the record of having never had a passenger killed on his train or of costing the road one cent of damages on account of injuries to any passenger.

Soon after the openibg of the Atlanta station he was appointed superintendent of the Atlanta Terminal company, having charge of the reorganization of the operation of the Atlanta Terminal station and the Atlanta terminals. He practically revolutionized the handling of trains in the Terminal station and did away former congestion of traffic.

He resigned that position later to become superintendent of the M. J. and K. C. railroad, where he again secured many operating improvements.

ATLANTA IS ANSWERING CALL OF PRESBYTERIANS FOR HOSPITALITY

By personal home-to-home visitations, the ladies of Atlanta's three most numerous religious denominations were calling upon their own church people, Thursday for entertainment for 500 more delegates to the approaching great joint assembly of the three Presbyterian bodies in the United States.

This plan was agreed upon Wednesday at a luncheon where several ladies were the guests of S. M. Inman and J. K. Orr, two leaders of the Presbyterian laity here. Mr. Orr is chairman of the executive committee that is preparing to receive and entertain the assemblies.

Mrs. C. B. Wilmer became chairman of the Episcopalians' committee, of which several sub-committees were at work Thursday; Mrs. Clarence Johnson became chairman of the Methodist organization, Mrs. George McCarty of the Baptists, and Mrs. A. W. Farlinger of the Congregationalists. Those ladies have pledged their respective denominations to furnish cordially the entertainment which the Presbyterians need.

On Thursday the various sub-committees were abroad in the city in automobiles, each automobile carrying one sub-committee from home to home among members of that sub-committee's own denomination.

AROUSED BY JOURNALS CALL.

The Journal's call, published Wednesday afternoon, that Atlanta arouse to the need of the moment and meet it without further ado, had found a responsive echo in practically every home in the city where there is accommodation for a visitor. This made the task of the ladies one of filling out their lists merely.

At headquarters of the committee, in room 313 Empire building, where Rev. Jere A. Moore is in charge, it was stated shortly after noon Thursday that the ladies were meeting with uninterrupted success and that the indications were the whole list of accomodations would be secured with a minimum of exertion upon their part.

At a luncheon to be given in the Capital City club on Saturday the ladies will render their reports, showing in detail who has offered to entertain the visitors.

PRESBYTERIANS TO HELP.

At the luncheon Wednesday in the Piedmont Driving club there were present a number of Presbyterian ladies who offered their assistance to the ladies of the other denominations. The Presbyterian homes of Atlanta already have offered all the entertainment they have available. The Presbyterian ladies at the luncheon Wednesday were as follows:

Mrs. S. M. Inman, Mrs. W. T. Healey, Mrs. Edw. Lyle, Mrs. Dougity Little, Mrs. E. C. Kontz, Mrs. Clyde King, Mrs. K. G. Matheson, Mrs. W. A. Speer, Mrs. John H. Mullin, Mrs. George Breitenbucher, Mrs. T. P. Hinman, Mrs. Whiteford Russell, Mrs. J. R. Winship, Mrs. George Harrison, Mrs. M. H. Whitner, Mrs. Arnold Broyles, Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. J. S. Thompson, Mrs. George Brine, Mrs. Jacob Patterson, Miss Nagle, Mrs. R. P. Ansley, Mrs. Hugh Bancher, Mrs. W. S. Elkin, Mrs. S. T. Bennett, Mrs. E. G. Elyea, Mrs. A. A. Little, Mrs. M. M. Stokes, Mrs. Peacock, Mrs. Willis Everett.

WILSON NAMES EIGHT GEORGIA POSTMASTERS

W. F. Brown Draws Carrollton Plum—One Hundred and Fifty Postmasters Named

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—One hundred and fifty postoffice nominations were sent to the senate by President Wilson today and among the number were Georgia officers as follows:

W. F. Brown, Carrollton, vice Claude E. Smith; Henry C. Miller, Colquitt, reappointment; Charles V. Clark, Louisville, vice Lewis R. Farmer; Andrew J. I. Irwin, Sandersville, vice Samuel B. Robinson; Mattie E. Gunter, Social Circle, reappointment; B. F. Baker Woodbury, vice Mary E. Hinton; Samuel B. Lewis, Fayetteville vice A. W. Kitchens, J. M. Wright at Screven, Wayne county, vice J. H. Walker, resigned.

The Carrollton and Woodbury postmasters were nominated by Congressman Adamson in the fourth district; Carrollton is the home town of Judge Adamson. The Louisville and Sandersville offices were filled on the recommendation of Congressman Hardwick, Sandersville being Mr. Hardwick's home. The reappointment at Colquitt was recommended by Congressman Roddenbery of the Second, and the reappointment of Miss Gunter at Social Circle was the recommendation of Congressman Tribble of the eighth district.

The Fayetteville place was recommended by Congressman Bartlett.

The salaries of these offices are indicated as follows:

Carrollton $2,200; Colquitt $1,400; Louisville $1,800; Sandersville $1,900; Social Circle $1,400; Woodbury $1,200; Fayettville $1,000.

Under postmaster General Burleson, all of these postmasters will be required to devote at least 8 hours a day to the duties of their offices, which precludes the possibility of their engaging in another business.

The largest number of postoffice nominations for a single state were

HOUSE REACHES SUGAR SCHEDULE OF TARIFF

Underwood Tightens Screws and Allows Two Hours' Debate

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—With the legislative machinery running smoothly and rapidly, the house today reached the first of the big rough places in the Democratic tariff bill, the sugar schedule.

Representative Underwood at the throttle, drove the Democratic majority steadily ahead, disposing of the last paragraph of the metal schedule and going through the lumber and wood schedule without allowing an amendment.

A fight to restore to the dutiable list shingles, which the bill placed on the free list, provoked a wealth of oratory, particularly from representatives of the north Pacific coast states. They made much of the "Oriental labor" troubles on the coast, citing the present anti-Japanese agitation in California.

When the sugar schedule was reached it became apparent that more oratory, in large volumes, was clamoring to be let loose and Representative Underwood, following his declaratoin that he intended to put on the screws, secured an agreement to allow two hours' debate on the sugar schedule and all amendments offered to it.

Representative Broussard, of Louisiana, representing the Democrats who oppose the free sugar provision of the bill, joined the Republicans in the futile battle to alter the committee rates.

The wood schedule, involving the fights of the anti-free lumber advocates, was the first target of attack when the house today resumed debate on the tariff bill. Democratic leaders expected to make great progress in the reading of the bill for amendment by the conclusion of tonight's session.

The agricultural schedule, involving contentions of the minority that the majority has put almost everything that

UNDERWOOD'S MANAGER NAMED TO HIGH PLACE

President Wilson Names E. K. Campbell, of Alabama, Judge in U. S. Court of Claims

WASHINGTON, May 1.—E. K. Campbell, of Birmingham, Ala., for many years political manager for Representative Oscar Underwood, has been selected by President Wilson for a judge in the United States court of claims. His nomination was expected to go to the senate today.

When Campbell's name was first mentioned for the judgeship it was pointed out by some Alabama Democrats that he had opposed instructing the delegation to the Baltimore convention to vote for Mr. Wilson in the event that Mr. Underwood could not be nominated.

The selection of Mr. Campbell for the judgeship probably means the elevation of Judge Charles B. Howery, of Oxford, Miss., to be chief justice of the court of claims. His nomination also was said to be scheduled for today.

DETECTIVES ELIMINATE EVIDENCE IN CONFLICT WITH THEORY THAT PHAGAN GIRL NEVER LEFT FACTORY

All Efforts Will Be Concentrated at Inquest Thursday Afternoon to Show That Testimony of Witnesses Who Claim to Have Seen Girl After She Entered Factory on Fatal Day Is Vague and Indefinite and Contradictory

NIGHT WATCHMAN EXPECTED TO TAKE STAND AND GIVE INFORMATION HERETOFORE WITHHELD

This Intimation Came From Detectives Thursday Morning After the Watchman Had Been Vigorously Questioned Behind Closed Doors for More Than an Hour—Women Employes of Factory Will Be Called—Witness Admits Mistake

When the coroner's jury reconvenes Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock the city detectives will endeavor to eliminate all testimony which tends to refute the theory that Mary Phagan never left the National Pencil company's factory after she went there to collect her two days' wages last Saturday about noon.

The testimony of Edgar L. Sentell, employe of the Kamper's grocery company, has been a stumbling block in the way of the cause from the very first. The detectives have never believed that Mary Phagan left the factory, yet they were confronted with Sentell's positive statement that he saw and spoke to her between 11:30 and 1:30 o'clock Saurday night.

At Wednesday's inquest he said that he was positive that he saw the girl, and said that he believed her companion was Arthur Mullinax.

SALS SENTELL WAS IN DOUBT.

Thursday, however, D. W. Adams, a trolley car motorman, came to Chief Beavers and told him that he heard Sentell say shortly after he had testified at the inquest, that he was not certain that the woman he saw was Mary Phagan.

"It might have been Miss Pearl Robinson," Adams quotes Sentell as saying just a short time after he swore positively that he saw and spoke to Mary Phagan. Miss Robinson, who was at the inquest, was wearing on Saturday evening a dress very much like the one Mary Phagan wore, and earlier in the evening she and Mullinax says they were together.

Detectives Starnes and Campbell have convinced J. L. Watkins who testified that he saw Mary Phagan Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock that he was mistaken and that the girl he really saw was Miss Daisy Jones, who lives at the corner of Fox and Lindsay streets. Miss Jones will be at the inquest Thursday afternoon and Watkins will take the stand to make the statement that his first testimony was in error.

In demonstrating to Mr. Watkins that he had seen Miss Jones instead of Mary Phagan the detectives got Miss Jones to put on the same clothes she had on Saturday afternoon and took her out on the street where Mr. Watkins had seen her. Watkins was immediately convinced that Miss Jones was the girl he had seen.

Before the hour of convening of the inquest a number of detectives were engaged in talking to employes of the factory about a general conditions, especially with reference to the conduct of the men, employes and employers alike, toward the women who worked there.

A number of former employes were among the people who were in conference with the detectives.

SIXTH ARREST MADE.

A sixth arrest in the Phagan murder case was made by detectives at 2 o'clock Thursday. James Connally, a negro "sweeper" employed at the National Pencil factory, was seen washing a shirt at a faucet in the rear of the building. Before he had completed the work detective who had been phoned, walked in and placed the man under arrest. There were certain marks on the man's shirt. He claims that they are "rust" marks. The detectives will hold him, at least until a chemical analysis can determine for certain whether or not the stains were caused by blood.

The negro declared to the police that the shirt was the only one which he possessed and that he washed so he could appear in it at the inquest, to which he had been summoned. His statement is believed by the police.

NEW INFORMATION SECURED.

A report that Newt Lee, the night watchman, has given the detectives much additional information was current at police headquarters Thursday morning, and was not denied by the officials working on the case. Lee went through another hour's examination Thursday morning, and when he was locked in his cell again orders were given that he be allowed to communicate with no one.

It is now reported that he will go before the coroner's jury, when it convenes again at 4:30 in the afternoon.

The detectives intimate that Lee has given them new information which will materially help them in solving the mystery of Mary Phagan's murder. It bears out the theory, they say, upon which they have been working for the past two days.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Thursday morning Lee was brought from his cell at the office of the chief of detectives. There he was examined for an hour by Chief Lanford, Chief Beavers, City Detectives Black and Rosser, and Harry Scott, the Pinkerton representative.

FACTORY GIRLS TO TESTIFY.

Coroner Paul Donehoo has announced his intention of summoning practically every woman employe of the National Pencil Factory, and many of the men, before the jury, which will resume the investigation of the death of little Mary Phagan on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Trouble, expense and inconvenience cannot be considered in making an investigation in a case of such paramount importance, the coroner declares, and it is possible that some fact of the greatest importance may be developed by thoroughly examining the employes of the factory.

Probably some of the girls there have in their possession facts that would lead the detectives directly to the murderer, yet the girls holding this information may have no idea of its importance.

Coroner Donehoo told Chief of Detectives Lanford of his decision early Thursday and that official immediately offered the coroner two of his men who will serve the subpoenas.

According to the present plan the detectives will secure from the management a list of the employes. Their names will be written on the subpoenas, which the detectives will immediately serve.

Repeated rumors that employes of the factory know more than can ever been developed by the officers, has led, it is said, to the necessity of continuing the probe among them.

Of especial value is the coroner's inquest for when the witnesses go before it they are placed under oath, and if their stories vary at the trial of any party, who may be indicted for the crime, then the record of the coroner's investigation will be produced.

It is said that there are between sixty and eighty women and about 104 male employes of the National Pencil factory.

MAY EXHUME BODY.

Coroner Paul Donehoo is considering the advisability of having the body of Mary Phagan, interred at Marietta Monday exhumed in order that physicians may make an examination of the contents of her stomach.

The coroner took the matter up, following a conference with D. G. Buchanan, formerly a sergeant of police at Augusta. Mr. Buchanan, who is now in business in Atlanta, advances the theory that Mary Phagan was dragged early in the afternoon, and that the tying of the cord and piece of her underskirt about her neck was either a simple "stall" or was done for the purpose of moving the body around by someone, who feared that he would bloody his clothing if he carried it.

FRANK REGRETS DELAY.

Leo M. Frank, when seen by a Journal reporter Thursday morning, said that he has no statement to make until his testimony is given before the coroner's jury, which will probably be at the afternoon session this Thursday.

Mr. Frank said that a complete stenographic statement had been dictated by him, and that he was anxious to have this before the jury.

He looked worn and tired, but declared that he regretted the delay and was anxious to have his testimony introduced as he was confident the coroner's inquest would completely establish his innocence.

UNCLE TO AID HIM.

It was learned Thursday that Moses Frank, one of his most substantial citizens, is returning to Atlanta today to assist his nephew, L. M. Frank in establishing his innocence of the crime with which his name has been linked by the charge of conviction. Mr. Frank had started to Europe, but was reached by wire in New York and immediately started back here, giving up his ourney. L. M. Frank is said to be a favorite nephew and the probable heir to his fortune.

The coroner's investigation of the murdered little Mary Phagan at the National Pencil factory Saturday or Sunday, will be resumed at police headquarters at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and the principal witness is expected to be L. M. Frank, superintendent of the factory, who is being detained by the police.

When the inquest, which had been in session from 2 o'clock in the morning adjourned for the day Wednesday at 4 o'clock, the mystery of Mary Phagan's death had not been solved, and the crime was far from fixed on any individual.

Coroner Paul Donehoo expects to hold a long night session Thursday. He fixed the hour for the re-convening of the inquest at 4:30 o'clock in order that the city detectives might utilize the entire day in their hunt for evidence which may tend to throw additional light on the factory tragedy.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSION.

LEVEE WEAKENS NEAR CITY OF NEW ORLEANS

300 Men Work to Save River Bank Thirteen Miles South of Orleans

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—A bad slough in the levee at Poydras, thirteen miles south of New Orleans, on the east side of the river, was discovered at 5:40 this morning and a crevasse appeared imminent. The batture caved in right up to the river side of the levee and within an hour after the caving was discovered the crown of the levee fell in, throwing the threatening flood water against a line of sand bags which had been hurriedly thrown up.

About 300 laborers, hurriedly assembled from the nearby plantations, were put to work strengthening the temporary sand bag dike and constructing cribbing just back of he weak places. Supplies and laborers were rushed to the scene from New Orleans.

A break in the levee at that point would give considerable relief to the levees along the city water front and above New Orleans, but would flood all of Plaquemines parish on the east side of the river and part of St. Bernard parish.

The river gauge readings for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. today showed the river stage stationary at Vicksburg, Natchez, Red River landing and Baton Rouge. There was a fall of one-tenth at Donaldsonville and two-tenths at New Orleans. In view of the millions of gallons of water which are pouring hourly through the half-mile gap in the big levee near Gibson's landing the stationary stage in the long stretch between Vicksburg and Baton Rouge is arther surprising to the engineers, who announced a fall of several inches at least between Natchez and Baton Rouge.

It is now believed that the return water from the Gibson's landing crevasse will begin to return to the big stream tomorrow through the Red river, when a second rise in the Mississippi from there south will start.

The stage at New Orleans this morning was 19.2 feet, 2.3 feet below the record high water level of last spring.

Crevasse in Levee at Gibson Widens to Half Mile

(By Associated Press.)

VIDALIA, La., May 1.—The crevasse in the main line of the Mississippi river levee near Gibson's Landing, had widened this morning to a half mile, emptying an immense volume of the flood waters over the rich farming lands of Concordia and adjoining parishes.

The engineers in an effort to prevent further crumbling of the broken ends of the gap placed a huge tarpaulin over the north end of the torn line this morning and will attempt the greater task of fixing the lower end during the day.

The crevasse water is steadily extending in every direction, destroying hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of growing crops and inundating many towns and villages. It is expected to reach Vidalia tomorrow. Little alarm is felt here as the flood is not expected to reach a dangerous stage here.

More than one hundred thousand rations have been distributed in the flood territory by Lieutenant Holloway, with headquarters at Natchez during the last few days.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 1.—Tomorrow there will be held in this city one of the most important business conferences that has been held in Savannah in a long time. It will have a great bearing upon the future of the naval stores business throughout the naval stores belt.

The factors who handle the product of the producers of naval stores everywhere will meet to perfect a plan by which rosins may be marketed without the intervention of the middle man.

The factors want to get a man in Savannah and one in Jacksonville for the purpose of marketing rosins direct to the consumer at prices to be determined upon. J. A. G. Carson, of the Carson Naval Stores company, and J. Ward Motte, of the Urodueers' Naval Stores company, are the moving spirits in the plan and it is expected that the company will be formed without any hitch.

Lunatic Found in White House Looking For the President

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Evading the White House guard, Alfred L. Wood, a painter, made his way into the main corridor of the White House with the avowed determination of seeing President Wilson concerning the domestic difficulties which had followed his imaginary marriage during the Taft regime in the east room of the historic structure.

Wood today is in the asylum hospital pending an investigation as to his sanity. His escapade did not become known until today. He was discovered by Sergeant McQuaid, in command of the White House police, who asked his business.

"Look out," warned Wood, "I've got electric batteries in my hand and if you touch me you will be electrocuted."

McQuaid promptly arrested the man. Wood, although a bachelor, clung to the belief that he had been married in the east room by President Taft. He appeared to be harmless.

NATIONAL BANKS MUST PAY INTEREST TO U. S.

All Depositories, Beginning June 1, Must Pay 2 Per Cent Per Year to Government

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The fiscal system of the United States governing deposits of federal funds in national banks was revolutionized yesterday by Secretary McAdoo, of the treasury department, with an announcement that all government depositories whether active or inactive, would be required to pay interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum beginning June 1 upon deposits of the government.

Simultaneously with this action the secretary authorized an immediate increase of $10,000,000 in government deposits in the national banks, making the total $52,649,964, from which the federal treasury will earn, under the new interest order, $1,053,000 annually. There are indications that Secretary McAdoo intends to release still more surplus money from the treasury vaults and place it in general circulation through increased deposits with the national banks.

In a statement he said:

"With the banks paying interest on government deposits the secretary may be justified in keeping larger balances in the national banks, thereby increasing the volume of money in circulation and to that extent reducing the amount locked up in the treasury."

Mr. McAdoo also announced a radical change in the character of securities which the treasury department would accept for government deposits. Instead of requiring that the national banks secure treasury deposits exclusively with the United States or provincial government bonds, they will be allowed in future to secure 70 per cent with the government bonds and the remaining 30 per cent with high-class state, city and county bonds, acceptable to the secretary of the treasury, to be taken as security at 75 per cent of their market value, but not to exceed par.

Bryan Dreaming of American College In the Canal Zone

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Secretary of State Bryan turned from Tokio to Rio de Janeiro last night. At the close of a banquet given in his honor by the directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition, he suddenly launched into a glorification of the golden rule as applied to the republics of South America.

"I glory," he said, "that we now have an administration which will bring home to the republics of South America our sense of national honor and which will herald to them our abandonment of dollar diplomacy.

"If you people will give to South America a demonstration of American capital and enterprise, the United States will give dollars in service for your dollars in goods. There is no limit to the possible expansion of the golden rule between South and North America.

"The canal zone should be the center of American activities for two continents. I dream of an American university there which should promulgate the expansion of peace and justice."

Wild's Parquet Inlaid Linoleum rivals wood parquetry in richness. Like hardwood, the patterns are inlaid, not painted. Unlike hardwood, it is elastic, noiseless, non-slippery; has no joints to collect dirt and never requires "doing over." Ask your dealer. See that the trade mark "Wild's Linoleum" is on the back.—(Advt.)

WOMAN SLAYS MAN IN INDIANA SALOON

Says She Intended to Shoot Saloon Keeper and Not His Son

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, May 1.—Clarence Murphy, twenty-two-year-old son of a Gary, Ind., saloon keeper, was shot dead today in his father's place of business when he attempted to eject Mrs. Grace Smith, thirty-five years old. She fled to Chicago, where later she was arrested.

Arthur Greyson, thirty-seven years old, was with the woman when she was taken into custody. They were taken back to Gary.

After a quarrel between Mrs. Smith and Henry Murphy, proprietor of the saloon, Clarence Murphy ordered Mrs. Smith out. When he stepped toward her to enforce the command, she drew a revolver and fired five shots.

"I meant to shoot old man Murphy and not his son," Mrs. Smith told the police.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BOY AND THE BOOKLOVERS' CAMPAIGN

A crowd of High School boys were standing on one of the downtown corners yesterday afternoon, as the Campaign Editor came along looking for a good place to eat. But the word "booklovers" floated to him out of that crowd and he forgot that he had not had anything to eat since 7 a. m.

"I tell you fellows," said the boy who was discussing the Booklovers' Campaign, "I can see no better chance of cleaning up enough money to pay my tuition fees in a good college than this Journal Booklovers' Campaign. I was in the one last year and thought I was smarter than the editor and held down the number of answers low enough to get myself a box of candy, instead of one of the gold prizes. You know I just got it in my head that that fellow was trying to sell us a lot of extra pictures, but I know now that he was giving us good, honest advice all the way through, and this time I am going to turn in every possible answer up to the limit of ten allowed and will get one of The Journal's new Answer Books as soon as they are placed on sale, and you, Jack, had better get one, too, right away from that old liar, your catalogue, if you want to win, because the titles used this year are not all in it. You will have a nice bunch of incorrect answers against you at the windup and you will be lucky if you get even a box of candy. I am watching the paper closely and reading every one of the campaign stories and you can bet I am acting on every good suggestion I find there. Say, boys, wasn't that a surprise to you to know that $1,000 in Gold only weighed 4 1-4 pounds. Suppose you would ever get a hold of a ton of gold, what would you do with it? Come on, fellows, here is our car."

BOOKLOVERS' QUERIES.

Inquirer: Last year's catalogue will not do. You will find it has not all the titles used in this campaign.

CONTEST TO A FINISH IS AGREED BY TWO SCHOOLS

Second Baptist and First Christian to Hold Scholars' Mass Meeting Sunday

A contest which will stir each to hold the new membership that it has gained, was agreed upon Wednesday evening by the officers and teachers of the First Christian and the Second Baptist Sunday schools at a supper when the former played hosts to the latter in the basement of the Christain church.

This contest will begin immediately after the end of the one now running between those two schools, or three Sundays hence. The present contest will end two Sundays hence, and the loser will give a picnic to the winner. It is for points, the enrollment of new members being the primary feature.

The reputation of those new members will be the purpose of this second contest, which will last three months, just as the present one is lasting. Points will be scored as follows: For each scholar present in class at 9:30 o'clock, two points; for each tardy scholar arriving before 9:50 o'clock, one point; for each church service attended by a scholar who is present in class on the following Sunday to report, one point.

Atlanta's religious and Sunday school circles have been watching with much interest this good-natured grapple between the two big Sunday schools. The announcement of the new contest between them arouses even wider interest as what has grown to the proportions almost of a battle royal.

The supper Wednesday evening was in the nature of a return courtesy, the first Christain workers having been entertained previously at the Second Baptist church.

All of this bears upon the tremendous mass meeting, greatest in southern records of Sunday school work, which the two schools will hold Sunday morning in the auditorium. There will be approximately 5,000 scholars in that meeting, and the invited guests who attend will fill what room they leave in the auditorium. The mass meeting will begin at 10:30 o'clock, with Dr. Percy Starnes playing the big organ as the schools march in. The program will be opened with a prayer, followed by the hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," sung by the whole gathering, forming the very biggest of all the big choruses that have sung in the auditorium. The same chorus will recite the Lord's prayer in unison, and will sing "Stand Up, Stand Up For Jesus," and will read the Twenty-third psalm, and will song the final hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." Mrs. Starnes, wife of the organist, will sing "Ave Maria," in solo, after the psalm is recited. Rev. Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian church, and Rev. Dr. John E. White, pastor of the Second Baptist church, both will address the gathering.

Under instructions from headquarters in New York, the Atlanta branch of the consolidated Film exchange will take moving pictures of the march to the auditorium, to be shown in the news films throughout the country.

"The Royal Guards," a class of young men in the First Christian school, numbering some 200 members, will meet at a banquet Thursday evening commencing at 7 o'clock in the basement of that church, and will hear an address by Judge Nash R. Broyles, recorder. Mrs. F. M. Robinson is the teacher of this class, and John Crenshaw is its president.

44 ECLECTIC DOCTORS TO GET THEIR NEW DIPLOMAS

Forty-four graduates in the eclectic school of medicine will received their diplomas Thursday evening from the Georgia College of Eclectic Medicine and Surgery in Atlanta. The commencement exercises will begin at 8 o'clock in the Atlanta theater. The graduates are gathered from fourteen states. Rev. Dr. H. M. DuBose, pastor of the First Methodist church, will pronounce the invocation and deliver the graduating address. Jesse M. Wood will make the annual address, and the reports of the dean will be read by Dr. Elzie B. Thomas.

NEXT SATURDAY IS THE DAY FOR BIG EASTER EGG HUNT

Get an Early Start, Children, and Be There When the Band Strikes Up "Dixie" Promptly at 3 o'Clock

Don't forget the Easter egg hunt, children.

It comes off at Grant park next Saturday. It is for all the little folks of Atlanta not over 12 years of age, and it promises to be the largest and best of the many which The Journal and the park board have given.

The eggs, which are larger than ever before, will be hidden in the late forenoon, and from and after 12 o'clock no horse-drawn vehicle will be allowed in the park.

The eggs will be hidden in the area bounded by South Boulevard, drive from Berne street to refreshment stand, Constitution drive winding through the park to Park Avenue and Berne street.

The children will take their stand along these boundary lines, and at 3 o'clock the band, on a high hill in the middle of the area, will strike up "Dixie." That will be the signal for the children to start.

Mounted policemen will be on duty in the park all afternoon to keep order, protect the children, and assist lost children in finding their parents and escorts.

All lost children should go to the concrete pavillion, and all parents and escorts should go there to find lost children.

In addition to the regular eggs, of which there are upwards of 120,000, there will be a number of valuable prizes. Wooden eggs with numbers burned in them will be hidden at random, and the children who find these luck eggs will get the prizes.

Then there will be the grand prize, a large, beautiful polished golden egg, containing $5 in gold. It was made by J. M. Hollowell, and the $5 gold piece was donated by him.

Children finding the wooden eggs should go to the band stand opposite the refreshment stand, where the orders for prizes will be distributed. These orders, when presented at the stores downtown giving the prizes, will be redeemed.

Special car will carry the children to and from the park.

Don't forget. Next Saturday. Promptly at 3 o'clock the band plays "Dixie." Better get an early start to be there on time.

THEATERS

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
LYRIC—"Billy, the Kid."
ATLANTA—"A Butterfly on the Wheel."
BIJOU—Vaudeville and pictures.

All the acts on the bill at the Forsyth this week have won attention. The hits this week have been so strong that all Atlanta is talking about the show and its features. Sophye Barnard, Lou Anger and their company entertain splendidly with their unusual sketch; Misses Muriel and Frances win favor in an unusual cowboy singing number; Chris Richards shows why he was kept on Broadway nearly all this season, and Gaby demonstrates that she has every right to the position she sustains in vaudeville.

The bill for next week is going to make a brilliant and powerful bid for the attendance record of the Forsyth theater. The headliner will be Gus Edwards' Kid Kabaret. This is a company of fifteen girls and boys who have been personally drilled by the song writer in a travesty on the New York cabarets. The act is crowded with specialties and with new Edwards songs. One of the features will be a song, the words by Frank L. Stanton and the music by Edwards. Another feature will be the first appearance here of Belle Story, conceded to be one of the prettiest girls in vaudeville. Comedy will be the offering of Williams, Thompson and Copeland in "The Burglars' Union," and Hart's Six Steppers will dance to the delight of every audience. Seats are obtainable now in advance for any future performance at the busy theater.

The Miss Billy Long Stock company at the Atlanta has hit its regular stride and its success seems assured. This week the reception given "A Butterfly on the Wheel" has been most flattering. Wednesday's matinee was all but sold out and Saturday it is expected that a packed house will greet the players. The drama has made a fine impression and was enthusiastically received. No performance will be given tonight, but Friday night, Saturday matinee and Saturday night, the company will be at the playhouse. Next week the offering will be a fine comedy. "The Girl from Out Yonder," which has never been seen here in stock. It is a play which gives Miss Long and the members of her cast fine opportunities, and is well worth seeing. Miss Long appears first dressed as a boy and makes about the cutest woman seen in Atlanta since the last appearance of Billie Burke. Seats are now selling for the week, including the two popular price 25 cents matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

A stirring melodrama splendidly presented is being offered by theater-goers this week at the Lyric in the engagement of "Billy the Kid." While the title may suggest to theatergoers a lurid melodrama without rhyme or reason, the play really tells a good story, intelligently presented by a good company with adequate scenic effects. The engagement so far has proven a success and the advance sale for the remaining performances would indicate good audiences for the week. Matinees on Thursday and Saturday.

EMORY ALUMNI TO TALK OF COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Alumni of Emory college will hear J. E. Mathews, Emory 1913, president of the Student Government association, at the University club Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock, in a talk upon intercollegiate athletics from the standpoint of Emory, which does not participate in them. A discussion among the alumni will follow. A petition has been signed by over 100 of them in Atlanta, asking the trustees to let Emory participate in intercollegiate athletics.

LYRIC SEASON TO CLOSE WITH THIS WEEK'S BILL

The regular season at the Lyric theater will close with the finish of this week's bill, "Billy the Kid." Announcement of this was authorized Thursday. It is probable that a stock company will begin the summer season there very soon.

ACCUSED ALDERMEN WILL BE EXONERATED

Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling Certain to Get Favorable Committee Report

The probe of Alderman McClelland's charges against Aldermen Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling was finished Wednesday night about 11:30 o'clock, and while the committee will not make up its decision until it goes over the stenographer's report of the testimony, it was more or less evident to all present when the probe concluded that the accused will be exonerated.

Alderman Maddox admits performing a sub-contract for Chester A. Dady on the Peachtree creek and Entrenchment creek sewage disposal plants, but claims that this was the only one he ever performed, and that City Attorney Mayson ruled it to be legal.

ONLY ONE PERFORMED.

The probe showed that this was the only sub-contract performed by Maddox since he became a member of the general council, and that City Attorney Mayson advised him in writing, before he bid on the work, that it would not be illegal.

The law involved in this transaction is a section of the city charter which says that no member of the general council shall be directly or indirectly interested in any city contract.

Since the Maddox sub-contract, which was in 1911, a more stringent clause has been added to the charter, at the instance of Alderman Maddox and others, leaving no room for a member of council to have any interest whatsoever in a city contract.

THE RAGSDALE CHARGE.

Alderman McClelland charged Alderman Ragsdale, who is a dealer in mules and horses, with organizing a dummy firm known as J. R. Lawhon & Co., for the purpose of selling horses and mules to the city, the idea being that through this firm he would be able to evade the charter clause forbidding a member of council from doing business with the city.

Alderman Ragsdale does not deny that he and J. R. Lawhon are partners, nor that the city has bought some stock from J. R. Lawhon & Co. He claims the partnership was formed before he became a member of council and that his only participation in the affairs of the firm is that of financial backer. In other words, Lawhon does all the buying and selling, without consulting him.

The probe has shown that Alderman Ragsdale more than once requested Lawhon not to sell the city, to which Lawhon replied that under the terms of the partnership agreement he could sell to whom he pleased.

The probe has shown that Alderman Ragsdale, so far as the committee could learn, never used his official position to influence the purchase of stock from J. R. Lawhon & Co., but on the contrary that stock is bought on competitive sealed bids under U. S. government specifications.

The probe has shown that Alderman Ragsdale, under the name of the Ragsdale Mule & Horse company, has a firm entirely separate and distinct from J. R. Lawhon & Company, that this is his main business, and that from this firm the city has never bought horses of mules since Ragsdale became a member of council.

The probe has shown that Alderman Ragsdale's only direct dealings with the city, so far as horses and mules are concerned, was when he acted as the city's agent, under special resolution of the mayor and general council, to sell "wornout" stock, and that he sold these on competitive sealed bids and obtained extra good prices for some.

THE SPRATLING CHARGE.

Alderman McClelland charged with borrowing, in 1910, large sums of money from beer dealers, on promise of favoring them as chairman of the police committee of council in 1911, to which position he expected Mayor Winn to appoint him.

Alderman Spratling admits borrowing as follows: In June, 1910, $500 from James F. Lynch, a wholesaler and retailer of beer; in July, 1913, $250, and in August, 1910, $300 from Poole & McCullough, wholesalers who are interested in about 40 retail saloons; in October, 1910, $800 from Albert Steiner, president of the Atlanta Brewing & Ice company, which company is interested in about 70 retail saloons.

Alderman Spratling claims the loans from Lynch and Poole & McCullough were obtained before he was a candidate for alderman, and claims he got them on grounds of personal friendship without any promise or hint of favoring them as a member of council.

He claims the loan from Steiner, while it may have been obtained after his nomination as alderman in the municipal primary of 1910, was likewise on grounds of personal friendship, as he did not know at that time whether he would ever be a member of the police committee and therefore could not have promised favors.

Alderman Spratling admits that these loans are still unpaid. His plea of extenuation to the committee is that in 1910 he was in trouble of a very personal private nature which made it imperative to raise several hundred dollars; that he borrowed from the above beer dealers without any thought or suggestion of favoring them by means of his official position; that subsequent to the loans he suffered business reverses which made it necessary to mortgage for several years in advance his brokerage commissions to repay something like $15,000 to his principals; that already he has paid one-third of this amount, being over two years ahead with his notes; and that as soon as he squares accounts with his principals he will repay the loans to the beer dealers with interest.

The committee expects to be able to report to council next Monday.

HELD NIGHT SESSION.

The committee met in session Wednesday afternoon, as scheduled, owing to the absence of Luther Z. Rosser, counsel for Alderman Ragsdale and Spratling, who was attending the coroner's inquest in the Mary Phagan case.

At 7:30 the committee reconvened and was in session four hours. Alderman McClelland did not show up, owing to his illness, nor was his attorney, Charles T. Hopkins, in attendance.

All of the witnesses suggested by Alderman McClelland were present, however, and their testimony sustained the contentions of Alderman Ragsdale and Spratling as above set forth.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE IS WRITING FOR PRISON PAPER "GOOD WORDS"

Reg. No. 4435 Contributes Poetry and "Philosophy in Correct Language" to May Issue

Register No. 4435, at the Atlanta United States penitentiary, said to be the noted writer, Julian Hawthorne, has contributed to the May issue of "Good Words," the prison paper, a poem entitled "Footfalls," and a bit of gingery "Philosophy of the Ranges." The same pen wrote the tribute to Enrico Caruso, in the same issue.

The philosophy of Register No. 4435 follows:

"PHILOSOPHY OF THE RANGES."

By Register N. 4435.

"PABLE IN CORRECT LANGUAGE.
(With Apologies to Mr. Ade.)

"For what purpose,' inquired the Intelligent Investigator from the Planet Mars, 'was the High Wall constructed which surrounds this Institution?'

"'In order,' was the Reply of the Terrestrial Interpreter, 'to render impossible the Escape of the Inmates.'

"'And does it fulfil its Object?'

"'Perfectly.'

"'And why,' pursued the Martian Visitor, 'are the Shins and Shoulderblades of Sun Dentzens inscribed with the Letters U. S. P.?'

"With the intention,' responded the Guide, 'of Preventing their Escape.'

"The Planetary Stranger took out his note book, and entered in it the following Discovery:

"'On this Earth, the Prevention of the Impossible is not considered Supererogatory.'

"There are consolations in our existence here. In the Spring, a young man's fancy, in the outer world, lightly turns to thoughts of a new suit of blue serge, or black-and-white check, or (vertical) stripe, or the like vain and costly gewgaws. Here, on the contrary, we possess our souls in peace, and our pockets are unwrung. Uncle Sam, in his simple, undemonstrative way, puts his tailor at our disposal, chooses the goods for us, and pays the bill. It is consoling to meditate upon this economy in the still small hours after 7 p. m. When the time comes for us to resume the selection and purchase of our garments, we shall be able to afford something super-excellent.

"Violets are growing wild out in the prison yard; and this big plot of ground, if the arid red soil were treated with the right fertilizers and correctives, would be bountiful of all sorts of crops, from roses to turnips. 'Potato' Pingree, the stout old mayor of Detroit, got his nickname by licensing the poor folks in town to use the vacant city lots for the free cultivation of that nourishing root; and perhaps our own little population might find health, subsistence, and peace of mind, were they permitted to turn parts of our vacant plain into "intensive" vegetable beds,—and be diminishing the expense of their upkeep into the bargain.

"When we know the full extent of an evil,' says a philosopher, 'it is half over.' We who have heard a jury deliver a verdict, and a judge pronounce a sentence, know the extent of our troubles, and it is a comfort to be assured that this knowledge has already cut the period of our penance in two. Add to this the possibility of a parole, a commutation, or a pardon, and it hardly seems worth while to go to prison at all.

"It is worth while to have stood on the hard pan and bottom of things: for not only is it a wholesome experience which many miss, but we shall have only ourselves to blame if every subsequent step we take is not an upward one. William Stead, the famous English journalist, who brilliantly closed a worthy life by heroically bidding farewell to it on the deck of the Titanic, said that a man who has not been in jail could not know what life was. Some of us might think it a knowledge that we might willingly forego; but Stead's saying was true (he was in jail himself for a year or two); and since we have been accorded the privilege, we may as well make the best of it.

"Wadsworth, on the other hand, referring no doubt to persons not yet in jail remarks, 'The world is too much with us.' Whatever other disabilities we suffer from, this is not among them: we sit secure from frivolous interruption, and have leisure to think things over. There is really a great number of things, past and to come, to think about; and while for the outer world, the time for making good resolutions comes only on the first of January, it comes to us here every day of the year.

"Many imagine resignation to be much the same as contentment. But no man who, peering between his iron bars, has seen the trees dressed in fresh green beyond the walls, makes that mistake. Resigned?—possibly! but content?—not by the diameter of the universe. Resignation is philosophy; contentment is paradise, and paradise philosophy is never seen, because there is no one there to give her a job."

From the same pen comes the leading article of the paper, "A Sermon and a Song—Why Love Wins Hearts When Logic Fails."

The article says, in part "The great majority of human beings walk about on the crust of the moral world, or clamber up, or are lifted to its high places.

"But the man in jail belongs to another category. He has been pronounced unfit to live among his fellow men.

"Let this be remembered by those who face an audience of the subterranean brotherhood."

JERSEY'S FULL CREW LAW GOES INTO EFFECT

Freight Trains of Less Than Thirty Cars Must Be Manned by Five Men

(By Associated Press.)

NEWARK, N. J. May 1.—The so-called full crew bill which was opposed so bitterly by the railroads, went into effect throughout the state today. The law provides that crews of freight trains of less than thirty cars shall consist of five men and of more than thirty cars, six men.

On passenger trains of not more than three cars the crew must consist of five men and on four or more cars, of six men.

All the railroads affected are planning to join in concerted action to test the constitutionality of the law, probably by invited prosecution under the penalty imposed $100 fine for its violation.

MANY MOURN DEATH OF MR. EDWARD H. ROBERTS

Pioneer Atlantian Passed Away Thursday Morning After Short Illness

Mr. Edward Hubbard Roberts, pioneer Atlantian, is dead.

Surrounded by his loved ones, he passed away quietly, Thursday morning shortly after 10 o'clock at the old family residence, 7 Baltimore place. One of his last requests was that his friends all be requested not to send flowers.

Mr. Roberts, a son of the late Elijah H. and Emily M. Roberts, of Middleton, Ga., was born in New York City, December 15, 1831, and was in his eighty-second year at the time of his death. At the age of seventeen he went to Ashtabula, Ohio, where he entered business. While a resident of that place he married Miss Catherine D. L. Carlisle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Carlisle.

In 1861, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts moved to New York where they remained until 1870, when Mr. Roberts became a partner in the lumber firm of Simpson & Co., at Bagdad, Fla. Sixteen years later he came to Atlanta with his wife and family, going into business with the late Edwin F. May. He has lived here since that time though retired from active business for the past twenty years.

The golden wedding of the happy couple was celebrated here in 1907, with all of their children and grandchildren present for the occasion. April 22, 1913, was their fifty-sixth anniversary, but owing to Mr. Robert's illness the occasion was not made known.

Up to eight weeks ago when his health began to fail and it was realized that the end was in sight, Mr. Roberts, despite a slight lameness, was active in his personal affairs, and could be seen down town daily talking with friends and enjoying the outing to the fullest extent. His memory was as clear as a bell, his sight good and his mental faculties active almost up to the last. His acquaintance was large and those who knew him had learned to honor, respect and love him.

In his death Atlanta has lost a true and worthy citizen and there are hundreds who are mourning his death today.

Mr. Roberts is survived by his wife and four children, Miss Emma Roberts, Miss Kate Roberts and Mrs. Carter H. Page, Jr., of this city, one son, Frederic C. Roberts, of Jacksonville, Fla., and one brother, Richard H. Roberts, of New York City.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

England, Austria and Italy Send Armies Against Defiant Nation

By Associated Press.

LONDON, May 1.—A proposal that the Montenegrin seaports of Antivari and Dulcigno shall be occupied by a joint international force of Austrian, Italian and British troops as a further demonstration to King Nicholas that the powers are resolved to carry out their decision in regard to Scutari, was made at today's meeting of the ambassadors in London.

Should Austria-Hungary accept this middle course, its adoption would allow time for further pressure on Montenegro and for an arrangement to provide her with compensation of some kind.

The reply of Montenegro to the demand of European evacuation of Scutari was received today by the powers. It is non-committal in character and keeps the door open for further negotiations.

The little kingdom tells its big neighbors that it has the greatest deference for them and declares the capture of Scutari to be in no way a defiance on their announced decision to give the former Turkish fortress to Albania. At the same time Montenegro suggests that there is room for discussion and reserves the right of bringing up the question of Scutari in the course of peace negotiations.

In the meantime arrangements are in progress for the definite conclusion of peace between the Balkan allies and Turkey. The European powers have requested the respective governments to appoint plenipotentiaries who on meeting in London will be invited to sign a draft of the preliminaries which the powers have already drawn up. This course has been adopted in order to prevent prolonged discussion.

The moderate tone of Montenegro's reply to the powers has cleared much of the electricity out of the diplomatic atmosphere.

The impression served from the Montenegrin note is that King Nicholas is waiting for the "compensation" which is to be offered him to quit Scutari.

125 COLLEGE GIRLS CAPTURE THE CAPITOL

Graduating Class of Georgia Normal and Industrial School Here on Annual Visit

The graduating class of the Georgia Normal and Industrial college of Milledgeville—125 happy, laughing girls—laid siege to the state capitol Thursday morning and captured the same, together with all its inhabitants, without resistance.

They called on Governor Brown, who came out in the reception room and made them a nice little speech. Prof. M. M. Parks, president of the college, made a speech, and then the young ladies went into the corridor outside the governor's reception room and made it ring with their voices in chorus.

It is the annual visit of the graduating class to Atlanta. Besides being one of the largest classes that ever came it is, to be sure and without any disrespect to those who have gone before, the prettiest one.

Being a working man, not wanting to lose time, nor run up a heavy doctor's bill, he cured himself completely by using Foley Kidney Pills. A year later he says: "It is a pleasure to report that the cure was permanent." He has had no return whatever of the pain, backache and burning. His name is J. A. ## MAYOR RAPS COMMITTEE ON M'CLELLAND CHARGES

Says He Expected Nothing but Whitewash, as Committee Knew the Facts All Along

Mayor Woodward says he is not surprised to see that the special committee of council investigating the charges of Alderman McClelland will probably exonerate Aldermen Maddox, Ragsdale and Spratling.

As will be recalled, the mayor predicted at the outset that the committee would give them a coat of white wash.

He says the committee had to clear these three in order to protect the balance of council.

"How can they do anything but exonerate these men," is the way he expresses it, "when the members of the committee have known the facts all along? The McClelland charges are not new to them. They knew the aldermen were going to admit the charges. Council has known the facts all the time, and yet has done nothing. There ought to have been some citizens on the committee. Then the public could have had the benefit of a fair, unprejudiced decision in the whole matter."

BRIDE STAYS ON WATCH WITH BRIDE GROOM COP

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 1.—From midnight until 8 o'clock this morning a bride sat shivering on the steps of Grant's tomb, in speaking distance of her husband but forbidden to exchange even the tenderest bits of honeymoon conversation.

She was the wife of Lewis Baumann, a patrolman on fixed post, to whom she was married at 9 o'clock last night. Baumann had expected to be relieved from duty, but an unromantic police captain ordered him to his post as usual. So his bride decided to keep the watch with him.

Under the rules policemen on fixed post are forbidden to talk to citizens except in the discharge of their duty. The pair left arm in arm this morning, sharp at eight.

MANY FEDERAL JOBS NOT UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

107 Government Positions in Georgia Which Require No Examination to Qualify

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 1.—"Positions in the United States Service Which Are Not Required to be Filled Through Examination Under the Civil Service Law" is the tautological title of a pamphlet just issued by the federal government that will bring joy to the hearts of many "patriots" who are willing to serve their country, but who have run up against the civil service regulations. The pamphlet was compiled by the civil service commission, at the request of the house of representatives.

It appears from the compilation that there are in the state of Georgia 107 government jobs not in the classified service. The salaries of the places range upward from $600 to $4,000 per year. There are a score or more $600 places and only one $4,000 plum.

In the city of Atlanta alone there are thirty-nine positions not under civil service. The majority of these—sixteen, to be exact—are under the collector of internal revenue, who is ex-officio the custodian of the postoffice building. They are laborers' places, and are worth $50 per month each.

The private secretary to the postmaster at Atlanta is not a civil service employe. The salary of this position is $1,800 per year.

There are nine "laborers" in the Atlanta postoffice, who each receive $720 a year—$60 a month.

There are five "contract station clerks" whose salaries range from $600 to $900 a year each.

THE BEST GEORGIA JOB.

The best job in Georgia, not under civil service, is that of warden of the United States penitentiary. It carries a salary of $4,000 a year, with desirable perquisites. The place comes under the department of justice, and the warden is named by the attorney general.

Other positions at the federal prison not under civil service are: Deputy warden, $2,000; chaplain, $1,500; assistant chaplain, $1,200; physician, $1,600; oculist, $1,000.

The assistant district attorney at Atlanta receives $2,500, and the district attorney's clerk gets $1,800. Neither of them are under civil service.

Of course the United States marshal and his assistants at Atlanta are not under civil service. The marshal, however, is appointed by the president "with and by the advice and consent of the senate."

OTHER DESIRABLE POSITIONS.

Other desirable federal positions in Georgia not under civil service are indicated, as follows:

Albany, deputy marshal, $800.
Albany, two laborers, $600 each.
Andersonville, superintendent national cemetery, $900.
Athens, laborer, $600.
State statistical agent, $800.
Augusta, "contract station clerk," $600.
Augusta, deputy marshal, $800.
Augusta, contract surgeon, $1,000.
Blue Ridge, agricultural agent, $840.
Dublin, laborer, $600.
Fort McPherson, superintendent national cemetery, $720.
Gainesville agricultural agent, $840.
Homer, agricultural agent, $840.
Lavonia, agricultural agent, $840.
Macon, deputy marshal, $1,100.
Macon, deputy marshal, $900.
Macon, assistant United States attorney, $2,250.
Macon, assistant United States attorney, $1,750.
Macon, clerk, $900.
Marietta, superintendent national cemetery, $900.
Rome, two laborers, $600 each.
Savannah, laborer, $650.
Savannah, deputy marshal, $1,000.
Valdosta, deputy marshal, $720.
Waycross, laborer, $600.
White Plains, agricultural agent, $840.
Six traveling agricultural agents, salaries ranging from $600 to $2,200 per year.

The agricultural agents are appointed by the United States department of agriculture, in Washington, and are not necessarily residents or citizens of Georgia.

WILSON GOES BEFORE VOTERS OF NEW JERSEY

President Taking Stump for Jury Reform and Constitutional Convention

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon President Wilson broke from the manifold and pressing obligations of his office to return home to New Jersey for the purpose of redeeming a personal and political responsibility. It is an unusual thing for a president to do, but the president is moved by considerations not always usual to presidents. A New Jersey admirer stated it this way to The Journal:

"President Wilson's return to New Jersey to urge the fulfillment of the Democratic party pledges as to jury reform and a constitutional convention, represents a final effort to fulfill a personal obligation. As governor, he participated in the drawing up of that platform with the other members of the legislature. He still holds their vote of confidence and will hold it until another is elected in his place. His promotion to president makes necessary the succession of another to his official functions within the state, but instead of relieving him of responsibility for the party program merely gives him a wider leadership with which to insist on it. Mr. Wilson is still mor*ally governor of New Jersey*, and his responsibility for leadership is the same.

"President Wilson left the delicate Japan situation, the almost equally critical Mexican situation, the insistent crowding of Great Britain for an interpretation of his policy on the Monroe doctrine in relation to the overwhelming foreign debts of Guatemala, the unremitting run of conferences on the tariff, the same with regard to currency legislation, the multitude of questions affecting the distribution of patronage, the amalgamation of the Democratic national and congressional committees, and many other problems to which he has been devoting unceasing attention. All these he laid aside until Saturday morning. And in the meantime he has arranged a New Jersey program which reads like one of Colonel Roosevelt's most strenuous time cards."

At 8 o'clock tonight he speaks before a great popular audience at Newark in advocacy of plain, common honesty in the Democrats of his state. At the conclusion of the speech he motors to Elizabeth, six miles away, and duplicates the speech. By midnight he expects to be back in Newark, where he will board his private car and run by special train into New York to spend the night at the home of Colonel E. M. House, of Texas. In the morning he hopes to be able to read in the papers that his two speeches have reached the people all over New Jersey.

He will breakfast in Jersey City and at 11 o'clock will have a conference with the Democratic members of the New Jersey legislature in the club. This is the time when he will talk to the members like a Dutch uncle, hoping that this, with the sentiment created by his speeches, will suffice to pass the legislation promised the state by his party.

But, to keep pushing the Democrats in the direction of right and honor, he will have a further conference from 1 o'clock till 7 with all the Democratic leaders of the state. These are the men who used to be called the bosses, under the old regime, but under Mr. Wilson have had to be satisfied with the milder and more decent title. The president will dine in New York, but will return to Jersey City to deliver still another speech in support of Democratic honesty. This will come off at the big school auditorium in Jersey City and will consume the entire evening. At midnight the president leaves for Washington.

The exhibition will be designed to bring about friendly competition in the book industry and graphic arts and to demonstrate their effect on all branches of culture.

POLICE BRIBE JURY HEARS WALSH'S WIFE

Wife of Ex-Police Captain Tells of Conspiracy to Bribe Witnesses

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 1.—The wife of Thomas W. Walsh, ex-police captain, whose revelations have been the foun*dation of the district attorney's prosecu*tion of members of the police force, charged with graft, took the stand today at the trial of the four former inspectors, Sweeney, Murtha, Thompson and Hussey. Mrs. Walsh was called to confirm statements made yesterday by her husband.

Walsh testified that his wife was present when he discussed with Sweeney a plan to keep George A. Sipp, a hotel keeper, who had paid the police "protection money," out of the county so that he could not appear as a witness against a patrolman under arrest for collecting graft. Mrs. Walsh, her husband said, handled part of the money raised and turned over to Sweeney to stop th[e] ths of witnesses.

The [c]onspiracy to bribe Sipp to leave [t]he basis of the indictment [o]f the four ex-inspectors are being t[ried].

ASHEVILLE MEN HELD ON RIOTING CHARGE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 1.—In the police court this morning four rioters were held in $350 bail for trial tomorrow. One failed to appear and forfeited bond and another was fined $10 and costs. Pink Starnes was held in $500 bail for perjury and $350 for rioting.

Worth Lyerly, the son of the chief of police, was acquitted on a riot charge. During his trial General Superintendent Donald, of the car company, admitted firing a revolver several times inside of the car barns. This is the first shooting in the strike. Outside of one plate glass window, the damage to the car barns was small.

Last night an unsuccessful attempt was made to cut the power lines leading to the cars near Craggy, below which the dam is located.

A crowd on the square chased a special officer down South Main street before going to the barns.

Cars began running on all lines at 10:30 a. m. Thursday, but few are riding. Many citizens are ordering out gas and electric meters, and sympathy almost entirely with car men. Badges, "Arbitrate, or we walk," are worn by many.

FROM BOAT PILOT TO HEAD OF ENGINEERS

Edwin F. Wendt Is Now President of American Railway Engineering Association

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 1.—From "cub" pilot on Ohio river steamboat, to president of the American Railway Engineering association is the life story of Edwin F. Wendt, who yesterday was named by the interstate commerce commission as one of the board of five engineers to formulate rules for the physical valuation of the railroads.

Plans, with which Mr. Wendt has nothing to do, took him from the river to college and other plans placed him in the engineering department of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad.

Wendt is noted among engineers for his resourcefulness and during the March floods in the Beaver valley, in an effort to save a bridge he ordered a train of steel cars loaded with ballast sent at full speed into the washout. They formed a barrier against which broken rock was dumped, the gap was filled and the bridge saved. Later, with a heavy crane, the cars were hauled from their watery bed, sent to the shops, and Wendt had them hammered into shape and now he points proudly to them as they frequently pass his office, in regular service on the road.

THE big picture in the center shows the head of the detective department, Chief Newport A. Lanford. To his left is John R. Black, city detective, who was largely instrumental in convicting the Druid Hills murderers. On the extreme left at the top is Detective Pat Campbell, and below him is J. N. Starnes. To the right of the chief is Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, who are working on the mystery. The top picture at the extreme right is City Detective S. L. (Bass) Rosser, and below is Detective W. F. Bullard.

DETECTIVES ELIMINATE EVIDENCE IN CONFLICT WITH THEORY THAT MARY PHAGAN NEVER LEFT SHOP

the corner from the dead girl's residence proved one of the most interesting of the witnesses heard by the coroner's jury at Wednesday afternoon's session. Epps, who rode to town with Mary when she went to the factory to get her earnings for two days' labor, was to meet her again at 2 o'clock at Five Points, and they had arranged to watch the Memorial day parade together.

Coming in on the car, he declared that Mary told him that Mr. Frank had winked at her and looked "suspicious." She requested him, he said, to meet her at the factory whenever he could.

Edgar L. Sentell, of 82 Davis street, was positive that he saw Mary with a male companion on Forsyth street, near the factory between 11:30 Saturday evening and 12:30 o'clock Sunday morning. They spoke to each other, he said.

Sentell was not quite positive that her companion was Arthur Mullinax, the former street car conductor.

Another witness, a neighbor, claimed to have seen her near her home at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, while still another witness who had told the detectives that he saw Mary the afternoon of the tragedy, appeared at the inquest and declared that he was mistaken. Miss Pearl Robinson, who had also been summoned as a witness, was the girl he saw, he declared.

FACTORY EMPLOYES TESTIFY.

Three employes of the factory were among the witnesses at the session. One, H. F. Barrett, found the blood splotches near Mary's machine on the second floor, which show that there instead of in the dark basement she commenced her fight for life. Harry Denham and Arthur White, the two young men who worked on the fourth floor of the factory from 7:30 until 5 o'clock Saturday, were the other witnesses. Mr. Frank, they said, came up to their floor shortly afternoon and when told that they couldn't complete their work by 1 o'clock locked them in the building until about 2 o'clock, when they left him there.

J. M. Gant, another of the men held by the police in the case, was on the stand, and he told on oath practically the same story that he has so often told to the detectives and reporters.

J. W. Coleman, of 146 Lindsay street, step-father of the murdered girl, told the pathetic story of the anxiety of her mother and himself when she failed to appear at home by dusk, Saturday evening. Coleman declared Mary Phagan would have been fourteen years old had she lived until the first day of June.

Frank M. Berry, assistant cashier at the Fourth National bank, was one of the important witnesses at the hearing, and he declared that in his opinion the notes found by the girl's body were written in the same hand as several other notes, which had been written at police headquarters for the detectives by the negro watchman, Newt Lee.

WAS FACTORY A RENDESVOUZ.

Repeated questions from the coroner and the members of his jury attempted to bring from many witnesses the statement that the pencil factory had been visited often after working hours by men and women.

No witness before the jury admitted having been couples enter the place after dark, but it is said that when the jury continues its investigation Thursday several persons who claim to have seen men and women enter the building at night, will be called.

Miss Pearl Robinson, of 133 Bellwood avenue, testified that Arthur Mullinax was with her the greater part of Saturday evening, and it is extremely probable that Mullinax will be released immediately upon the closing of the coroner's probe.

Expert penbalmers from P. J. Bloomfield's establishment will probably be called before the coroner's jury Thursday afternoon, and they will give it as their opinion that Mary Phagan had been dead ten hours or more when they received the body.

The undertakers were called about half an hour after the arrival of the police at the factory, or shortly after 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

DID MURDERER SEEK TO BURN SLAIN GIRL'S BODY, AND DID THE WATCHMAN INTERRUPT HIM?

A new theory based upon an assumption of the innocence of the negro night watchman, Newt Lee, is that the murdered body of Mary Phagan was taken to the basement of the National Pencil factory primarily for the purpose of burning it, early Sunday morning, and that the slayer was hid in the basement when Newt Lee discovered the child's body face up with its head toward the back door.

This theory will permit explanation of several details which tend now to keep the mystery thick.

It assumes that the negro night watchman, Newt Lee, did write the crude notes found near the girl's body, but wrote them to save himself from the first fury of suspicion, believing that his innocence would be established by later calm investigation. The assumption that he did write them is reasonable, because in the notes themselves and in the negro's repetition of them, "by" was spelled "boy" and "self" was spelled "slef." The final "f" on "slef" is identical in the original and the test, moreover; and other details seem to indicate they were written by the same hand—that of the negro.

THEORY IN DETAIL.

The murderer faced the necessity of removing his victim's body from the second floor and disposing of it.

Either before the negro came to work, or afterward while the negro was on the upper floors, the murderer took the body to the basement, probably by way of the trap door and ladder.

There he dumped the lifeless form of the child upon a pile of trash and papers and other clutter in front of the firebox beneath the boiler. Mary Phagan's hat and her left shoe were found there.

Planning to dismember the body or stuff it somehow into the pencil feeder and there consume it by burning it in a hot fire of trash, the murderer was interrupted by a noise at the trap door near the front. A gas-jet, burning dimly there, was the only light in the thick gloom of the place. Another light, the watchman's lantern, showed in the opening. The watchman was coming down.

The murderer seized the child's body quickly by its dress, or an arm or a leg, and whisked it across the dirt floor, past the boiler and around the corner of the partition, there dropping it out of sight as he thought. A place that looked as though something had been dragged upon the dirt floor was found by the officers, and at least one of them swore to it Wednesday at the coroner's inquest. The child's clothes, her face, one of her legs, were rubbed black with the black dirt and coal dust of the floor of the place. She was found lying, not upon that black dirt, but upon dirty sawdust.

MURDERER HID.

The watchman came on back toward the rear, and the murderer fled from his corner into the wood-dust bin beside the back door. In that are piles of dust from the pencil-wood machines upstairs. A chute emptied the dust there. The bin is an ideal hiding place. The sawdust underfoot permits no sound.

There the murderer crouched when the watchman discovered the body with its face up, head toward the back.

The watchman, a negro, saw that flight for himself would be a confession of guilt. To report the find would be to invite unknown trouble. He had to choose. He chose the latter—but wrote a note, then another, to divert the first fury of discovery from himself.

It would have been easy for the negro to have carried the girl's body out of the back door, across the alley, and deposit it somewhere else outside in the neighborhood. But he did not do that. Would he not have done it if he had been guilty? .

The murderer saw the watchman leave, and the basement was pitch dark again. He emerged, picked up the body to hide it somewhere else or do something with it; dropped it—upon its face, head toward the front, as it was found by the officers; and escaped by pulling a staple from the rear door, stepping out into the alley, and becoming lost in the city immediately.

There are two psychological factors which govern the whole case.

TWO GOVERNING FACTORS.

It is not probable that an outsider would have been interested enough in the consequences of Mary's body being found in the factory, to hide it or move it anywhere or dispose of it in any way. His sole object would have been to escape with his own hide.

Further, it is not probable that a person unacquainted with the premises would have been able to penetrate to the cellar in the gloom that prevails there even by day, or to have found his way to the back door and out.

Dr. J. W. Hurt, county physician, says that Mary Phagan could not have been dead less than six hours when the undertaker received her body—if the body then was beginning to stiffen. The doctor takes into consideration, he says, that Mary did not bleed much—nor at all, perhaps, except from the wound in the back of her head; that her body was full-blooded, therefore. He considers, on the other hand, says he, that the night was cold and the basement was dank and chill.

According to that, Mary Phagan died not later than 12 o'clock last Saturday night—perhaps earlier. At 3 o'clock the night watchman reported that he had just found her.

U.S. TO INCREASE ACREAGE OF LONG STAPLE COTTON

One of the Undeveloped Resources of America Capable of Enormous Expansion

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—A new factor has been introduced into the problem of long staple upland cotton production by the early maturing varieties now being distributed by the department of agriculture.

Long staple production is one of the undeveloped agricultural resources of the United States and capable of enormous expansion, declares O. F. Cook, in charge of crop acclimatization.

He asserts, however, that anything like a full development of these resources must be accompanied by extensive changes and readjustment in the commercial and industrial world. Having been accustomed to a limited and uncertain supply of long staple, it remains to be seen how long will it be before American manufacturers take advantage of the removal of these limitations.

More progress has been made in recent years on the agricultural side of the long staple problem, says Mr. Cook, than on the industrial and commercial side. Limited and uncertain supply has restricted long staple, but greatly increased consumption is to be expected if they can be supplied more regularly and cheaply.

In summing up, Mr. Cook says:

"The difficulties and uncertainties of the present situation lie in the readjustment that must be made in placing the cotton industry on a more honest and substantial basis and thus opening the way to a better development of our resources of production. The competition springing up in foreign countries is likely to force these changes in time if they are not accomplished voluntarily in the interest of American agriculture and of our own consuming public."

This April a Dry One

April, 1913, went down upon the records of the weather bureau in Atlanta as the third driest among all Aprils observed during the thirty-four years that the weather bureau has been on duty. The month was remarkable also this year for the cool weather during the last week.

CARRANZA REFUSES ALLIANCE WITH DIAZ

Orders Emissaries of Diaz to Leave the Country at Once, Denies Making Offer

(By Associated Press.)

EAGLE PASS, Texas, May 1.—The statement from Mexico City last night in which Felix Diaz said the two emissaries sent to Governor Carranza were not to offer an alliance, but to counsel Carranza to make peace, drew the following reply today from the "state department" of the Carranza regime, which is situated at Piedras Negras, also known as Viudad Diaz, the Mexican town opposite here:

"Diaz offered to put himself entirely at the disposition of Carranza in every way and to carry out any orders given him. His offer to obey Carranza in all things was as complete as possible. Carranza absolutely refused to entertain the offer to treat with them in any way and ordered the emissaries to leave the country at once, which they did."

These emissaries were Miguel Gonzales and Leopoldo Martinez. An automobile, carrying 10,000 rounds of ammunition, was captured by United States troops in this city today. Meade Fierro, formerly editor of a Mexican constitutionalist paper, and the chauffeur of the automobile were arrested.

FATHER SCHADEWELL HOLDS MAN FOR POLICE

Savannah and Diocese Chancellor Attacked in Priest's House

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., May 1.—Rev. Father J. D. Mitchell, chancellor of the Catholic diocese of Savannah, and Rev. Father F. X. Schadewell, pastor of the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist, had a terrific struggle with Jerry M. Welsh, a man of giant size, yesterday afternoon in the priests' house back of the cathedral.

Father Schadewell was attacked by Welsh with a large stick, which the man carried in his hand, and was struck on the head with such force as to fell him to the ground. He and Father Mitchell grappled with the man and held him until the police arrived.

Welsh was carried to the barracks by a motor-cycle officer, who, with hundreds of others, was attracted to the scene. The man attacked the police officer, but was overpowered by him after a time. This morning a warrant charging lunacy was sworn out against Welsh and he is now in jail.

Father Schadewell, who came to Savannah from Atlanta several years ago, was not so badly hurt that he could not appear against the man this morning.

NASHVILLE'S DEATH RATE INCREASES DURING 1911

Atlanta Shows Increase of Nearly One to Every Thousand Population That Year

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Mortality statistics for 1911, as contained in an abstract issued today by the census bureau, do not reflect credit upon the cities of Atlanta and Nashville. The table shows that in these cities there was a slight increase in the death rate per 1,000 persons as compared with the years of 1909 and 1910. The showing is distinctly unfavorable, as in 41 out of the 50 registration cities having over 100,000, including Memphis, Birmingham and New Orleans, there was an improvement in health conditions, as reflected by the mortality statistics.

The death rate in Atlanta increased from 18.9 per 1,000 in 1910 to 19.8 per 1,000 in 1911. The increase in Nashville was even larger—from 18.7 in 1910 to 20.5 in 1911.

New Orleans, which in years past has been rated as an unhealthy city, on account of its location, showed an improvement as large correspondingly as were the increases in Atlanta and Nashville. The New Orleans death rate fell from 21.3 in 1910 to 20.4 in 1911. The improvement in Memphis was even smaller, so slight, in fact, that it was almost negligible—from 21.4 in 1910 to 21.3 in 1911.

The abstract shows that the death rate in southern cities, as a general thing, is slightly heavier than in northern and western cities. The proportion of negroes is a factor in the higher these institutions are charged against but no figures are given to distinguish whites from blacks.

Another recognized factor in the mortality statistics, which unquestionably affected the figures in both Atlanta and Nashville, is the location of many hospitals and sanitariums in these cities, from which patients from the surrounding country seek treatment. Residence is not taken into account in the census tables, and deaths of non-residents in these institutions are charged against the cities.

A Call to Atlanta's Hospitality.

Atlanta's famed hospitality hears today the most inspiriting call that ever came to this city's genial heart.

It is a call for homes in which to entertain the distinguished delegates who will attend the epoch-making Presbyterian convention which is to meet here on May the fifteenth.

This will be the greatest assemblage of its kind in the history of the world. All branches of the Presbyterian church in America will be represented in the gathering of four distinct assemblies. Every State and every city in the Union will send its embassy.

The number of visitors who will thus be brought to Atlanta is beyond prediction; at a conservative reckoning, however, there should be between four and five thousand of them and the city will come into vital touch with every corner of the nation. Considered merely as a means to Atlanta's publicity and prestige, the fact is of inestimable importance.

The circumstance to be noted particularly, however, is that among all these visitors there will be fifteen hundred official delegates. It is to these that Atlanta is asked to extend an especially cordial and homelike welcome. They are the city's invited guests, the municipal authorities and the Chamber of Commerce having joined with the local Presbyterian churches in bidding them come.

Provision has already been made for the entertainment of about a thousand of the delegates. Hundreds of Atlanta homes have graciously responded. But there are some five hundred delegates who must yet be provided for. Let the representative people of Atlanta rise forthwith to the needs and the opportunities of this occasion and, without another day's delay, prove how worthy they are of their city's renown for hospitality.

These delegates, half of whom are laymen and half ministers, are among the leaders in their respective home communities. They are men of rare distinction and attainment. Their presence will be an honor to this city and a delight to every home in which they are guests. They must be greeted not as strangers but in a spirit of genuinely homelike welcome.

Thursday has been set aside as a day in which to complete in every detail the plan to secure homes for the five hundred official visitors not yet provided for.

Let all good Atlantians do their part in this gracious task.

For an undertaking such as this, a day should apply suffice and so it will if our people are true to their traditions and their ideals.

The Most Difficult of The Balkan Problems.

The ambassadors of the European Powers, who meet in London today, face the most difficult and the most delicate problem to which the Balkan war has yet given rise. Montenegro persists in its refusal to evacuate Scutari, though commanded to do so by the six great nations. Austria is equally determined to enforce this command with or without the cooperation of the other Powers. The baffling task of diplomacy is to reconcile these differences, to persuade Montenegro to come to peaceful terms or to find means by which the desired end can be accomplished without independent action on Austria's part.

It is commonly suspected that should Austria once enter Albania on a coercive campaign she would never withdraw until her virtual ownership of that territory was established. Her ambitions for greater power in Southeastern Europe have long been known. Indeed, it is because of such ambitions that she so hotly protests against little Montenegro gaining a foothold in Albania through the occupation of Scutari. It is at Austria's insistence that the Powers have decided to make Albania an autonomous State, setting it apart from the territorials spoils which the Balkan conquerors are to divide.

Russia has been acquiescent, outwardly so at least, in this plan. But should it appear that Austria was about to seize Albania for her own uses, Russia would not be slow to protest, and as forcibly as circumstances might demand. It is at just this point that the peril of a serious clash between the Triple Alliance and the Triple Entente arises; just here that Austria, Germany and Italy on the one hand and Russia, England and France on the other might came into conflict.

If the six great Powers stand together, it seems inevitable that Montenegro will retire from its present defiant stand. But should there come a break among the big nations, should Austria proceed upon an expedition of conquest contrary to the wishes of Russia, the outcome might be dangerous beyond prediction.

The conference of the ambassadors in London today may lead to a safe and harmonious adjustment of these real and potential difficulties. Certain it is that European diplomacy, realizing the vast interests at stake, will do all within its power to settle the vexed question of Montenegro as speedily as possible.

California seems to feel that the peril is altogether too yellow.

The Hero Fund.

It is doubtful that a truly heroic act was ever inspired by any hope of material reward or even by any thought of fame. Noble and sacrificial deeds are often done on a moment's impulse and sometimes almost unconsciously. There are few souls in which a spark of patriotism is not somewhere hidden away, ready to flash forth at pity's or honor's call. The humblest and plainest persons may bear a secret gift of knighthood but if it is ever revealed it will be through the medium of unpremeditated circumstance, it will be naturally and unselfishly.

We cannot create or quicken heroism by holding aloft a prize, however precious; yet, it is truth long recognized that heroism should be more substantially rewarded than it often is and that injury or loss suffered in the performance of a brave deed should be compensated. That no doubt was the prime purpose in the establishment of the Carnegie Hero *Fund nine years ago, so that the recent annual re*port of the commission in charge of that fund becomes deeply interesting.

It appears that since 1904 the pecuniary awards to heroes, or to those left dependent by them, have amounted to six hundred and seventy-one thousand dollars. Something more than one hundred and seventy-four thousand dollars has been allotted to sufferers. It is thus evident that the major portion of the money thus far expended has gone to the relief of urgent needs or at least to highly worthy purposes.

The commission reports that up to January the thirty-first, 1913, it had made awards in seven hundred and twenty-three cases and had refused them in eight thousand cases; about a thousand additional cases are now under investigation. Fifteen medals of gold, two hundred and seventy-four of silver and four hundred and thirty-four of bronze have been awarded. The pensions now in force aggregate some fifty-three thousand dollars. The original hero fund amounted to five million dollars. The fact that only a little more than a million has been expended indicates that it is being administered with due discretion and with really deserving ends in view.

Shall you take a vacation, or stay at home and watch the rest work?

The Mexican Triangle.

With Felix Diaz massing artillery on his private estate, a short distance from the capital, and with Provisional President Huerta surrounding the palace with troops, the Mexican situation seems far from reassuring.

Weeks ago it was hinted that Diaz and Huerta were at enmity and, though they both asserted their mutual goodwill, signs of a sharp break have been steadily multiplying.

Conditions have at length reached a stage where further pretense is impossible. It is manifest that each of these dictators is seeking the other's undoing; and since Huerta is nominally in the saddle, it would seem, according to Mexican custom, that it will be his turn to fall.

Whether Diaz will succeed in mustering the discontened element to his own faction, however, is rather doubtful. His alliance with Huerta in the treacherous overthrow of Madero has served to blot the popularity and confidence in which he was once so widely held.

A new and aggressive faction has risen in Mexican politics—the "Constitutionalists," as they call themselves. This party insists that Huerta withdraw from the provisional presidency on the ground that that office should, according to law, be held by the minister of foreign affairs in the late Madero's cabinet. "Regularity" and "order" are their watchwords, though they would probably not hesitate to employ violent means to carry their theory into effect.

The followers of this program are, perhaps, as ill disposed to Diaz as to Huerta, so that if another serious struggle should develop it would doubtless be waged under three standards.

Going, going, going down is the tariff.

No, Cordelia, a criminal lawyer isn't necessarily a criminal.

It will be noted that the European armies move to the attack on the eve of peace negotiations.

May Day and Modern Paly

By Frederic J. Haskin

The revival of the old folk games so much enjoyed by the children of former generations is being demonstrated today by the number of large outdoor play festivals held in so many parts of the country. In some of these the old-fashioned Maypole plays a prominent part. Usually the festival terminates with a graceful dance, during which the flower-decked pole is covered with a web of bright hued ribbons interlaced by the youthful dancers in the way immortalized by Tennyson and other English poets.

In some of the festivals, how*ever, the Maypole does* not appear. The festival consists merely of outdoor games played by the children, usually with musical accompaniment. The most important of these play festivals and the one having the greatest influence in the country will be the one held in Washington today as one of the events of the program of the annual convention of the International Kindergarten union now in session in the capital city. This festival represents the only one of its kind conducted in any country. It is really a revival of the children's games used by Froebel at the beginning of his work in Germany, and Miss Catherine Watkins, the head of the kindergartens in the Washington public schools, is entitled to the credit of putting the idea into effect in this city. Over 1,500 children will take part in this play festival which will be held upon the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution. In this natural setting the children will play their games to music furnished by the United States Marine band.

Modern educators deplore the fact that the children of the present generation do not know how to play. The lack of space and the artificial conditions of modern life are largely to blame for this loss, and a strong effort to increase the attention given to chil*dren's play is an important* feature of the recreation movement, so well under way. During the past decade the playground movement has added greatly to the amount of space given to the children for recreation purposes. But in every city the opening of a new playground serves only to demonstrate the fact that the children do not know how to use it. The play festivals which are being held will help the little folks to acquire the pleasure which should come to each of them from the simple bodily exercise developed by the old-fashioned outdoor games. When the kindergarten children learn it they will carry the blessing with them through the later grades.

In most of the cities the play festivals include children of all ages. In Kansas City over 2,000 children took part in the last one. In New York a number of play festivals are being held under the auspices of the park commission, which not only encourages outdoor play, but furnishes music to accompany it. This play has to be under supervision, of course, and the number of persons training as recreation or play directors is increasing each year. The qualifications for such work are varied and not easily acquired. It is not enough that one should really love children and possess sufficient education to instruct them in the ordinary branches. These two things are taken for granted. There must also be a keen perception of the characteristics in the individual child in order that the especial needs of his nature may be met so far as possible by the play. The stolid, pragmatic child should be stimulated by some of the games calling forth his imagination, such as those imitating the animals or birds in simple action. The child with the active imagination will be helped most by games which tend to make him accurate and methodical. Each game or play must have a distinct purpose. This may be either in the development of the physical, mental or moral nature of the child and the wise supervisor knows how to present these in sugar-coated form as children naturally object to being continually kept at noticeable improving pursuits.

In many towns the May day festival, whether it represent the old folk features which are being so much enjoyed in many cities, or the folk games gathered from all nations, especially those of the German kindergartens, marks the beginning of the supervised play season for the children. Their interest is engaged before the closing of school so that by the time vacation comes they have developed many new tastes and are better able to appreciate the advantages of the public playground and the friendship of the man or woman in charge who helps them to the fullest enjoyment of it. It is claimed that supervised play will also tend to develop the natural faculties of the child to a degree which will materially improve his school progress.

The advantages of supervised play, of which these May day festivals demonstrate only one feature, are becoming recognized by school authorities in a number of cities. In order that the ordinary school recess may be of the greatest physical benefit to the children a supervisor of games is now being employed. Instead of the entire school being dismissed for recess at the same hour, the grades are given their recess at different periods which gives more space for play in the school yards and also permits the supervisor to give the play best suited to the size of the children. This could not be possible if all the children had recess at the same time.

With all the vaunted advance of modern education, the games most used in the modern play festivals under the supervision of a play director are those that the children of former centuries played of their own volition. In having lost the power of natural play some educators clair that the modern child has also lost the intellectual vigor of former generations. While a century ago fewer children were educated than now, it remains undisputed that those who had educational advantages made greater progress at an early age. The average child does not now begin to study languages or higher mathematics until after he has completed his elementary work, which, according to modern standards requires him to be approximately fourteen years old. A century ago it was not unusual to find a boy of ten reading Caesar or working out the intricacies of a geometrical problem with the absorption of a modern child would only be permitted to expend upon a play problem. The college graduate of today completes his course at an age averaging three years older than did the graduate of fifty years ago.

The enthusiasts for supervised play believe that every bit of play should have some direct effect upon the children which will fit them for better future work. In the towns where the play festivals have already been held it is claimed that those who take part in them represent the highest intelligence of the school children. The simplest play contains some sort of wisdom which the children absorb unconsciously but thoroughly. Few teachers or play directors will be able secure the results attained by Mrs. J. B. Stoner, of Pittsburg, who educated her own little daughter along lines distinctly original, but at least the exam*ple she has set will be helpful to every one interested* in the education of children.

Little Winifred Sackville Stoner is now ten years old and has just passed her college entrance examination. She speaks five languages fluently and has written several children's books. She is a graceful dancer and also a musician. Her mother has taught her entirely through play. Their study games last two hours each morning and most of the remainder of the day, in pleasant weather, is spent in outdoor play. Winifred is skillful in athletics and has unusually well developed senses of sound, touch and sight. From her babyhood her play has been directed by her watchful mother who devoted herself to the highest development of every talent. When the child began to talk the spelling of her words she used was taught to her as a nursery game. Her mother read aloud and recited poetry to her before she could speak a word. Winifred has never been required to study beyond her natural inclination and her mother regards her as an example of what can be secured by education through play.

OUR UP-SIDE DOWN PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

BY DR. FRANK CRANE.
(Copyright, 1913, by Frank Crane.)

idea that the blacksmith, mechanic, farmer, merchant or sailor needed an education was preposterous.

That notion still subtly grips us. It is an aristocratic, class theory carried over into a democracy.

The only theory of a public school for which a democracy has any mortal use is that children are to be trained and equipped for life—that is to say, that they be taught so as to make them capable of self-support, to render them intelligent men and women and good citizens.

The school teacher class unconsciously assume that all pupils are to be prepared to become school teachers.

The popular supposition is that children are sent to school to learn to read, write and "figger." This is wholly erroneous. They should go to school to develop their whole character and faculties, to learn to use their hands, eyes and tongue, to strengthen their moral fiber, to learn how to do team-work with other human beings and thus become useful members of society. Information, knowledge and "book learning" they can easily pick up as they go along.

The state has no more right to pay money for schools that specialize on "scholarship" than to support institutions that specialize on woodwork or electrical engineering.

Scholarship has its place; but it is citizenship and manhood that should be the aim of state supported schools.

In education the things that should be in the main circus have been relegated to the side shows. For instance, moral training is of the first importance, absolutely essential. Honesty, integrity, industry, cleanliness, skill and such matters outweigh all Euclid and Caesar.

Our educational system is upside down, an inverted pyramid. It rests upon preconceived "standards." It should rest upon the careful study of the individual child, and its purpose should be to train him for the fullest manual, mental and moral efficiency.

John Haynes Holmes is not only a good preacher, but he has horse sense, which is possibly a greater compliment.

In a speech the other day he declared that, though a graduate of Harvard college, he was forced to say that all he had learned in school had been almost worthless to him in the struggle for life. "The trouble with the common school system," he proceeded to say, "is that it is designed for the benefit of the few. Talk about special privilege! The whole machine is geared to the limited number who intend to go to college."

Mr. Holmes has put his finger squarely upon the weak spot in modern education.

Our public schools are under the dead hand of the past. The fundamental spirit of them is wrong.

Time was when schools were only mills to grind out "scholars." The great mass of the people were not supposed to have any interest in them. Boys were sent to school to become preachers, physicians, lawyers or scriveners of one sort or another. The

The Top-Hat's Centenary

(New York World.)

Since centenary celebrations of every sort are the fashion, the top-hat is certainly entitled to formal honors on its one-hundredth birthday, and very properly England is to be the scene of special rites. Nowhere else in the world has it held the same place as an object of national worship. Nowhere else has it had the same social standing.

Sad to say, some observers of the changing dress of the times have noted that of recent years the top-hat has suffered a decline. Since a Labor member of parliament broke over all rules of etiquette and began to attend sessions of the house of commons in a common cloth cap, many patriots have felt that England was doomed. In large sections of this country the cylindrical hat of ceremony has never had more than a precarious existence, and there are mining camps in the west whose stocks are dealt in on Broadway street where it was rarely to be seen except on the head of a professional gambler or rash eastern visitor.

But perhaps what has most shaken the hold of the "cylinder of civilization" upon popular taste is the growing influence of outdoor sports upon men's dress and the tendency of the day to more rational clothing. When the soft hat with evening dress was countenanced in polite society, the hat makers were given warning that it was time to make special efforts to stay the advance of civilization.

It is appropriate that something should be done worthy of the occasion of the top-hat's centenary. It has a place in history that deserves to be preserved by a fitting memorial. If a monument seems too much to undertake, at least a bronze tablet should record its virtues, lest another generation discard it and let its memory fall into neglect.

"Commencement" Is Coming

(Boston Transcript.)

The visits of the dressmaker to the next door neighbor; student lamps burning at upstairs windows through the warm spring evenings and a rummaging for reference works in the branch libraries are the tokens whereby the commencement season begins first to manifest itself. These are the pleasures and pains of high school graduation. In the life of a girl, getting graduated is only second best to getting married. With the boy the occasion is more complex. It is mixed up with doubts of whether, after all, getting through with high school is a compensation for getting through with school baseball which has been his first taste of the sweets of importance and personal glory. When it comes time to write an "oration," the thing is settled in his mind; graduating is not worth the midnight oil. But the midnight oil must be burned, all the same, and the thing written. There is the bitter sweet of the last days; (they fly all too fast); when nothing so endeared this life as the leaving of it. Forgotten are the girlish tears shed over incomprehensible theorems; forgotten the angry bamperings of boyish fists on the pages of De Bello Gallico and the anxious consultation of the notes which always fail you at the hard places. Ahead loom the dubious prospects of college—*an undiscovered coun*try; one is sure to like it in the end, but the preliminaries may be painful; or the grim necessity of getting out and earning a living, of which, on a larger scale, the same is true. But, meanwhile, two months of glory and bliss. Who can blame these youngsters for living in the present?

A Bryan Lunch

(Montreal Star.)

While political economists are advocating the solving of the problems of the high cost of living by putting more gold in the dollar or more bread crumbs in the sausage, Mr. Bryan, President Wilson's secretary of state, has gone out and solved it without the aid of political economy or gold. He used silver, of course, and only a little of it, coupled with one or two of the fundamental principles of the simple life. The other day Mr. Bryan and his wife found themselves at the noon hour some distance from home, but near a market. He also found 7 cents in his pocket. How many more were in his pocket is not stated, but at least there were seven, because Mr. Bryan went into the market and bought two buns for 1 cent each and 5 cents' worth of cheese. On these purchases the secretary of state and his wife lunched satisfactorily if not sumptuously.

Mr. McCormick's to the people, so the game came to no account, albeit I hold it ought have been the Giants' Yet the game is played for results more than for the sport of it, and I believe that most of them that do watch the games are but sorry sportsmen. I must correct this fault, for these defeats do make me very unhappy. With him to luncheon and there I did meet a Mistress Field, a fair blue-eyed girl and with a merry wit, and she told me she was fain to act upon the stage but is hard put to it to find employment, and I did counsel her to advertise, but she said it were better and cheaper I should say it in by journall, but that I could not do, with honour. How the metaphor fashions change! Ten years ago hardheadedness was the symbol of wisdom and ability. We recall an old vaudeville wheeze about a man getting a soft hat to match his head. And now the thesaurus are being combed for synonyms for bone, ivory, wood and other non-resilient substances. Phil. ologists may begin explaining.

If a lady says no, she means perhaps; if she says perhaps, she means yes, and if she says yes he's no lady."

COAL DEALER INDICTED; THREE CHARGES VOICED

C. L. Truitt, of Coal Firm, to Be Tried on Complaint by Weight Inspector

The Fulton county grand jury, Wednesday afternoon, indicted Charles L. Truitt, of S. M. Truitt & Son, wholesale and retail dealers, on three counts, following charges preferred by W. T. Buchanan, city weight inspector.

Two of the counts are based on cheating and swindling charges, while larceny after trust is the specific charge in the third indictment.

Mr. Truitt was recently ordered to the police court on charges made by Mr. Buchanan. When the case was called on April 18, Recorder Broyles ordered his bond for $100 forfeited, declaring that should another such charge be brought against Mr. Truitt, he would be sent to the stockade without the alternative of a fine if convicted.

Two former drivers for the firm, and customers, declared that short weights had been doled out for four years. It was claimed that when coal was weighed on the city scales another wagon would be substituted for the one that had been weighed. It is claimed that Truitt also used a double system of tickets to defraud his customers.

It was alleged that one-horse loads of coal would be short from 400 to 500 pounds and that the shortage in the two-horse loads ranged between 800 and 900 pounds, as a rule.

The larceny after trust indictment charged that Mr. Truitt sold approximately two wagon loads of coal from a car load he was supposed to deliver to a customer. Ordinary short weight charges make up the cheating and swindling count.

Harvey Hill, attorney for Mr. Truitt, stated to The Journal Thursday morning that he and Mr. Truitt and his witnesses were present at the time set for the trial before the recorder. He had already advised Mr. Truitt, he said, that, in his opinion the case could be successfully defended.

After considering the clerical intricacies which entered into the matter," he said, which could be made clear to the court, yet would be confusing to the public mind, and the publicity the trial would give to the matter, I advised Mr. Truitt that in the event collateral would be accepted it would be best to forfeit it."

Y. W. C. A. LUNCHES TO BE DISCONTINUED IN SUMMER

At the annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held Tuesday night, it was decided to discontinue the noonday luncheons during the summer, and only the office and girls' night school will be open during that time. Miss Downing will be in charge.

Mrs. Averill, chairman of the committee on the conduct of the working girls residing in the home at 19 West Baker street, showed a most successful year. The home has been filled and many were turned away for lack of room. The number of lunches served during the past year was 23,284, from which $3,871.15 was realized.

In the near future an effort will be made to secure other quarters for the organization.

SERGEANT K. S. FOSTER DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Veteran Member of Police Force Dies Suddenly Thursday Morning

Sergeant Knight S. Foster, for 18 years a member of the Atlanta city police force, died suddenly at his residence, 302 Grant street, from an attack of heart failure about 11:20 o'clock Thursday morning.

Sergeant Foster, a tall white-haired man, loved by his comrades and many friends, had been ill only a few days, and until the sudden attack came it was thought that his illness was not serious.

Thursday morning he had been up and had walked into his yard and talked with several neighbors. He was sitting in his library talking to his son, Colonel J. G. Foster, a Marietta attorney, when he suddenly became unconscious.

The veteran policeman died in the arms of his son before a physician could reach the residence.

Mr. Foster happened to have legal business in Atlanta, and took advantage of the opportunity to visit his father. He had been at the residence only a few minutes, when his father suffered the sudden and fatal stroke.

Besides his son, Sergeant Foster is survived only by his wife, who was a Miss Lila Kate Alexander.

He was 72 years of age, having been born on August 10, 1839.

Sergeant Foster became a member of the police force on October 5, 1895, and for the past eight years he had been a sergeant. He was last on the evening watch, and was a familiar figure about Five Points and other central portions of the city.

She was formerly Mrs. Wallace, of Butler, Ga., and was the only child of the late Dr. John Walker. Her death comes as a shock to her many friends, since she was apparently in the best of health Wednesday night. It is presumed that her death was from heart trouble.

Mrs. Awtrey had been an earnest church worker for many years, being a member of the Baptist church. She is survived by her husband, Talmer S. Awtrey, and a daughter, Ada Phillips Awtrey; also four children by her former husband—John S. Wallace, of Chicago; Rev. Hugh Wallace, W. W. Wallace and Miss Sarah Wallace, all of Atlanta.

The funeral and interment will take place at Butler, Ga., Saturday.

Fine Remedy for A Backward Child

Continue it for Only a Brief Period and the Good Results will Surprise You.

A low state of the general health is now the accepted cause of backwardness in children. So in the case of a backward child it is best to look towards building up its health. It will usually be found that the main trouble is in the food, in lack of assimilation and digestion. Hence care should be taken in the kind of food given to the child. This, with plenty of air and exercise, should bring about a change for the better.

Watch the conditions of the bowels to note whether the waste is being passed off or not, or whether it is being passed too often. If either condition prevails give a small dose of that gentlest of all laxative-tonics, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Thousands of mothers will testify to the wonders it has wrought in the lives of their own children, and for that reason lotions of families like those of Mrs. J. E. Brunty, 1902 9th Ave., Nashville, Tenn., are never without it in the house. Mrs. Brunty writes: "Baby had always been constipated until I gave him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I am certainly going to keep this medicine in the house in future for I know it to be good." It is pleasant to the taste and so perfectly safe that it is given to infants, and yet is equally effective for grown people. All druggists sell it and the price is only fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter for families who need it regularly.

HARRY BRUNTY.

Syrup Pepsin has no equal as a cure for constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, sour stomach, gas on the stomach, liver trouble and kindred complaints. It has so many advantages that those who once use it forever after discard cathartics, salts, pills and other coarse remedies, for they are seldom advisable and should never be given to children.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

—has been the greatest factor in the upbuilding of any business. The PRINTING business is a shining example of the suggestion. The details of the PRINTING business are many, and complex. Narrowed to a generalization it is typesetting, and press work; but contingent to these concrete factors, are a host of related details and niceties, lacking any one of which, the best results are impossible. Details have to be "fought out" to be "wrought out"—watchfulness, care, precision, skill and patience are the wage a Printing organization pays for perfection in its product. # PUTS AN END TO BACKACHE MAKES WEAK KIDNEYS STRONG

A Few Doses Give Relief, Helps Lifeless Organs Regain Health, Strength and Activity.

It is useless, dangerous and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging, twisting pains of backache and rheumatism, or suffer with disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders any longer.

The new discovery, Croxone, provides a remedy which every sufferer can now depend upon to promptly and surely relieve all such misery.

Croxone relieves these troubles because it quickly overcomes the cause of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the membranes and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and makes the kidneys filter and sift from the blood all the waste and poisonous matter that clog the system and cause such troubles.

It does not matter whether you have but slight symptoms or the most chronic, aggravated case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism that it is possible to imagine, for the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.—(Advt.)

HIGHER CABLES AND SHORT COVERING CAUSE ADVANCE

Market in New York Closed 16 to 24 Points Higher Than the Previous Close

NEW YORK, May 1.—Cotton opened firm at an advance of 10 to 19 points on heavy covering and an active demand from both professional and trade interests. The cables, reports of a smaller increase in acreage than expected and a bulling view of the month situation. The advance ran the market into big selling orders which appeared to come largely from the south. With the forecasts indicating good weather prices eased off several points from the best during the early trading. The market was very nervous and unsettled toward the end of the first hour.

Trading became less active late in the forenoon, but there was a demand from recent sellers or bullish sources, and the market rallied very steady at noon with prices about 10 to 15 points net higher.

The market was less active during the afternoon, but ruled steady and about 11 to 16 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 1.—Cotton futures opened steady at an advance of 11 to 17 points on sensationally high cables, while prompt advances added more due to the weather in Texas and heavy covering of the short interest. The advance just held well for hours and pointed out that Texas temperatures were higher than they have been for several days past. The estimate of an increase in acreage of 3.7 per cent from a private crop reporting bureau also stimulated the short interest to the highest in the early trading prices were 14 to 19 points up at the end of the first half hour. Volume of business they were 6 to 8 points up.

Beeches southward was less strong around the middle of the morning than for some time past and sellers commenced to take the long side on the theory that the trading upward had not run its course. The area of high pressure in the northwest on the weather map caused the prediction of colder weather and added to the nervousness of holders of short contracts. Soon the market was quiet and steady with the trading months showing a gain of ten to fifteen points over the closing figures of yesterday.

The following were the ruling prices in the exchange today:

MEMPHIS, May 1.—Cotton seed oil, prime basis, $6.30; meal, $29.00; linters, 3½@3¾c.

COTTON MARKET OPINIONS

Thompson, Towle & Co.—We would not urge further sales of cotton at this time. The passage of the tariff bill may be of effect in checking sentiment for a while, but once it is settled we look for more normal trade conditions to prevail.

Norden & Co.—It is possible that some advances may be seen, but we think such advance will be only temporary.

Lowry, Bryan.—We would rather await some reaction before making sales.

Atwood, Violett & Co.—A good rally is in order and on any pronounced strength would advise short side.

Miller & Co.—We think this rally only temporary.

Hubbenberger, Sinn & Co.—We would be cautious about selling.

NEW YORK COTTON LETTER

NEW YORK, May 1.—The market opened with a short scare on in July due to a strong Liverpool cable and the knowledge that those in control of the local stock the foreign interest might easily be squeezed in the active month of month. On the bulge, however, the market met free selling by straddlers, and there was a tendency by operators to buy puts for a turn early in the week. Reports by Miss Gilmore and others of Commerce were generally bullish than expected. This added to bullish circular issued by Price yesterday, had a further stimulating effect. Sentiment is friendly to further upward reaction, but it is doubtful if a rally can be sustained if weather conditions continue favorable.—Anderson.

MONTHLY CROP REPORT

Brought into sight during month of April, 253,937 bales, against 768,81 last year and 317,967 year before.

Crop into sight on April 30, 12,919,702 bales, against 13,038,085 last year and 17,231,800 year before.

INTERESTING NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE MARKETS

Weather Reports, Crop Advices, Expert Opinions and Newspaper Comment

COTTON GOSSIP

Times-Democrat says: Fair weather at home and a way cloud abroad during the past few days have been the advantageous factors in the cotton market seem very acute. Yesterday the operators reached the conclusion that the conditions could not get any worse and that any change must be for the better, and some of them began to look for more bullish signs. They found them in the many complaints from both the southwest and the southeast in the shape of reports to the effect that a great deal of cotton will have to be replanted. From this the bullishly inclined talked over the production that at the end of April a safe stand is guaranteed, and they were of the opinion it would not be logical to infer from that that a large crop is unlikely. It is logical to infer that the burden of the proof continues to rest on the shoulders of the big crop people. Then the possibility of the fact that the acreage reserve this year are now calling some 50 points under October last year at this time, and somebody else remembered that October last year receded 600 points after this date. Under the circumstances, new crop deliveries under 11c began to seem cheap, and had it not been for the unsettled conditions abroad in the European war threat growing out of the Scottish incident, the market rise above 11c would probably have been scored.

Forecast:

Georgia, Alabama North and South Carolina: Fair tonight and Friday.

Mississippi and Louisiana: Fair tonight and Friday.

Kentucky: Fair tonight and Friday.

Louisiana: Tonight and Friday fair; light easterly to southerly winds on the coast.

Oklahoma: Tonight and Friday, increasing cloudiness.

East Texas: Tonight and Friday increasing cloudiness; light to moderate southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas: Tonight and Friday unsettled; slowly rising northerly winds; probably rain in northern portion.

11 a. m. bids in New York were as follows: January, 11.12; May, 12.07; July, 11.90; August, 11.48; September, 11.00.

New York wires: Market very short. Any unfavorable crop reports will start quick advances.

Liverpool cables: Bullish Journal of Commerce reports prospects of cold weather in Texas with frosts predicted tonight.

Map shows cloudy weather in west Texas, fair in east portion, with prospects of rain. Indications are for general rains coming in west portion tonight, and west Texas, east Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and north Louisiana. Warmer, generally fair; warmer in rest of belt.

Hordon, Bibb, Hubbard, Bennett, Walters and Hubbard were large buyers of July on the opening and bulged the ring considerably. Shorts covered, but rally got plenty selling on it. Liverpool cables, led by Jones, sold July on the bulge against sales in Liverpool. Some talk of Price and Thomson working on upturn, but they must have unfavorable weather.

STOCK GOSSIP

Dow Jones' summary: Secretary McAdoo announces that beginning June 1 all government deposits will be required to pay 2 per cent annually on active government deposits. Allen land bill to be passed by California legislature today, it is reported. Governor Sulzer's direct primary bill was favored on the floor of the House of Assembly at Albany passes bill increasing interest rate on state bonds to 4 per cent. Pennsylvania session for March decreased $2,265,000. Governor Sulzer to veto bill limiting rate to 5 per cent on loans. Bank of France and Bank of England rate unchanged. Twelve industrials extremely active rails declined .39.

London stock exchange closed.

Today may have considerable bearing on the foreign situation and expect a nervous and irregular market. The bulls appear to have the best of it.

Immediate demands of the short interest having become satisfied, prices were allowed to slip back fractionally, after which the list became dull. Subsequent events may consist in the downward and upward swings, some active shares vibrating extensively. Rails firm.

No news short covering caused rally in stocks.

Louisville and Nashville earnings for eight months ende February 28, 1913, show net earnings $6,801,000.

GRAIN GOSSIP

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. say: Wheat—Prices may take a little more reaction, but we consider time to feel very friendly to the market on weak spots.

Corn—Country offerings show little or no increase, while the shipping demand is fairly good. We undertone to the market continues very firm.

Provisions—The market seems to have a healthy undertone.

Saving and Investing

The Commercial Bank's Work and Pay.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON

In theory, at least, there are clear distinctions between the different sorts of banks. Savings banks are strictly limited in function, but when we get them we run into a state of confusion.

We find national and state and private banks and trust companies, and it is hard for us to tell why each of them exists. Why shouldn't they all be of one class? Thus early do we come into a region of technicalities.

Among these banks we find a great majority designated as "commercial banks." What does that term mean? How do these banks especially serve you and me?

Briefly, they receive, as a deposit, my surplus dollar—the dollar which I don't need for the present. They send it or lend from 60 to 80 cents of it to Jones, who runs a shoe store down at the corner, or to Smith, the druggist. They will return my dollar to me any time I ask for it, unless I have made a special agreement to leave it on deposit for a specified time. And they make sure that they can return it they keep from 20 to 40 cents in the vault, and stipulate that Jones shall repay the dollar he borrowed in a short time.

By gathering a great number of deposits from a great number of people these banks create funds which they keep to keep nearly all of it out in loans to people of its neighborhood, and the borrowers pay interest at the lowest prevailing rate. The banks, then, are merely agents for the lending of the money of one neighbor to help along the business of another.

Are these commercial banks overpaid for the work they do?

I read the other day the reports of the profits of some hundreds of the biggest commercial banks which showed that their earnings, over a period of approximately one year, averaged more 2 per cent on the total amount of money they handled during that time. Let the illustration go.

The bank which reported a profit of $100,000 during that period might have a capital of $300,000, a surplus of $300,000, and deposits averaging $6,000,000. Now, to get its rate of earnings you have only to divide one hundred thousand by six million, six hundred thousand.

In that case you would find this commercial bank, as agent, was paid 1 1-2 cents for every dollar it took in from me and loaned to Jones. Not an excessive commission, was it?

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET WAS STRONG AND HIGHER

Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Lehigh Valley, Canadian Pacific and Copper Led

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, May 1.—First prices of stocks today showed a majority of gains, although irregularities were numerous. Subsequently the coolers displayed strength in first transactions but quickly eased off. Liquidation of some of the recent weak features was continued and some new low prices were recorded. New Haven fell back 3 points, to 105. Illinois Central broke 2 points to new low figures, 112, a decline of a point.

Covering of many additional low records by seasoned dividend paying stocks overcame the depressing display of strength at the outset and the general trend fell below previous day's closing. Some improvement occurred afterwards, but the buying caused a considerable contraction in the dealings.

Unfavorable reports from foreign markets as barometer of political conditions abroad was impossible today owing to the holiday at the London stock exchange.

While the bonus market started higher, the period of strength was of brief duration.

Hitherless stocks sought substantially lower prices on a sprinkling of low records by investment and hundreds caused a considerable contraction in the dealings.

Unfavorably reports from foreign markets as barometer of political conditions abroad was impossible today owing to the holiday at the London stock exchange.

Closed strong.

The Oldest Club Member

The oldest member of the Driving club is dead; the big oak tree that stood close to the steps of the ball room porch.

Since the first stone of the little club was laid the oak tree has watched over it, has seen the coming and going of men and women whose lives have been a part of Atlanta's history and of the country's as well.

Before the ball room was added and the stone terrace was a grassy lawn, a table placed under the oak was the favorite spot of club members and always have its broad branches stretched out loving arms above the members and their friends. Injured in the fire which the club suffered several years ago, the old oak never recovered and last summer only a few limbs were covered with budding leaves. This year spring found the tree unresponsive. Unanswering to both sun and rain the branches remained black and bare when all the trees and shrubs about it had burst into green. The winter's sleep was death instead there was to be no more spring for the old oak, no more of singing the song of the seasons, no more of dancing to the music of the wind, for the oak is dead, and after the play of the axe only the bare trunk is left of the tree which has always seemed a friend and member of the Piedmont Driving club.

For the Tall Girl

Although you do not see very many white blouses worn without coats, yet, their being uncommon makes them very stylish on the tall girl. The one shown today is of red moire with a darker red taffeta belt and a white net bodice. This blouse also has the short sleeves which are rather uncommon this year. However, as it grows warmer, one may look for the annual baring of the summer girl's arms.

Little Stories for Bedtime

By Thornton W. Burgess

(Copyright, 1913, by J. G. Lloyd.)

Peter Rabbit opened his eyes very wide as he listened to all that Johnny Chuck had to tell him. At first he couldn't say a word because he was so surprised. You see he hadn't heard of Polly Chuck or the three baby Chucks, and it was very hard to believe that Polly Chuck or the three baby Chucks, But when Polly Chuck came out and was introduced and then snuggled up against Johnny Chuck on the doorstep Peter had to believe.

Johnny told Peter all that had happened since he first met Polly Chuck, how happy they had been, how proud they had been of the three baby Chucks, and how their hearts ached now because the biggest and strongest and smartest of their three babies had been caught and carried away by that dreadful Farmer Brown's boy. Great big tears rolled down the cheeks of Polly Chuck.

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear. I know I shall never, never see my beautiful Chuckie again!" she wailed. "And he was the brightest, smartest baby Chuck that ever lived!"

Johnny Chuck didn't cry as Polly Chuck did, but he wished very hard and cleared his throat several times. Peter Rabbit, who is very sympathetic, winked still harder and cleared his throat. Finally he ventured to ask a question.

"If the lost little Chuck was the biggest and strongest and smartest of your three babies, how does it happen that he was caught while the others got away?" inquired Peter Rabbit.

Johnny Chuck hung his head. You see it is very hard, very hard, indeed, to admit that those we love are not always all that they should be, and sometimes will do wrong. If that little Chuck could have seen Johnny then he couldn't have helped feeling very much ashamed. You see, Johnny had to tell Peter that that little Chuck had been caught because he thought himself so smart that he didn't need to mind, and so when the danger signal had been sounded he hadn't run as his two little brothers had.

"I know," said Peter Rabbit, "I used to have that smart feeling when I was a very little fellow, and I had some very narrow escapes before I learned that I didn't know it all. Once when I had barely reached the dear old father patch ahead of old Granny Fox she said something that I have never foorgotten and never will. It was this:

Mr. Smarty thinks he's wise
Thinks he knows it all and tries
To show off; but he will find
Some sad day that he's the kind
Trouble waits for sure as fate
And will capture soon or late.

"I began to realize that I didn't know as much as I thought I did, and now that I have grown up I still find that there is something to learn every day. What did you say that Farmer Brown's boy did with your baby Chuck?"

"He carried him away up to the great house where he lives," said Johnny Chuck sadly.

"Perhaps Farmer Brown's boy isn't so bad as we think he is," replied Peter hopefully. "Did you ever go up to Farmer Brown's house to see if you could find your baby?"

Johnny Chuck fairly gasped. "Me go up there! Why, Bowser the Hound wouldget me before I could turn 'round two—and I'm not big enough to fight Bowser the Hound," said Johnny.

"That's so," replied Peter thoughtfully. You couldn't fight him and you couldn't run away. I'll tell you because your legs are not long enough. Now, I might go up there and have a look around for you."

Oh, Peter Rabbit, will you? Will you, Peter Rabbit?" cried Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck together.

I'll think about it," replied Peter. I'll think about it. Now, I must be moving along."

And somehow Johnny Chuck felt strangely comforted as he watched Peter Rabbit hop over the old stone wall.

STARTLING CLOTHES WORN BY FRENCH WOMEN

BY MAYBELLE MORTIMER

PARIS.—Don't these pictures make you think that it is about time we should originate our own fashions in America?

Could anything be more startling than these gowns which accentuate the new carriage with its high stomach, dropping shoulders and general ugly and suggestive contours?

There is nothing artistic, modest, or graceful about these dresses. It is said that even the gentlemen of France who seldom bat an eyelish over the most eccentric of fashions were somewhat aghast over the startling display at Langchamps this spring.

Will these clothes be worn by American women?

What do you think about it?

Read What James J. Hill Says About Women Shoppers

Every woman tries to get the best value for her money. That is natural and proper, but the indiscriminate hunt for bargains spells trouble.

"The tendency of the average woman," says James J. Hill, "is to buy everything as cheaply as possible. That is the worst kind of economy. It is difficult to convince a housewife of this fact; but when she once realizes it she is on the true road to making money. The same principle that governs a railway in buying steel rails ought to govern the housewife in her purchase of beefsteak—not how cheap, but how good."

"Not how cheap, but how good for the price." Read the advertisements of the merchants who advertise in THE JOURNAL with that in mind and your purchases will give every satisfaction.

AMERICAN FASHIONS

By Lillian Young.

A chintz-flowered cotton crepe.

Quaintness is the keynote of the early summer gowns. Not only is this found in the style and fashioning of them, but in the adorable posey-strewn crepes and marquisettes that play such an important part in their construction. The charm that lies in these quaint flowered fabrics has much to do with the general approval being accorded the summer frocks. Tiny, Frenchy flowers, in mixed colors, wreathed, clustered, or simply stamped, are displayed in all the shops in the newest and prettiest of summer materials.

A pretty chintz-flowered cotton crepe, in rose, blue, green and white, is combined with a plain shade of dull light blue, in the accompanying illustration. The design is most suited to a young person, and will look graceful on a slight figure. The upper half of the blouse, the sleeves and the draped lower skirt are all cut from the plain blue crepe, while the side pannier sections of the skirt and the lower half of the blouse are of the flowered. A girdle of wide black velvet ribbon is tied in long loops and caught at the center front of the belt under a square crepe covered buckle, then trimmed with a line of white pearl buttons.

The blouse has three-quarter length sleeves set under a cord in a dropped armhole, and the flowered is joined to the plain material under a corded seam over the bust. The neck is left open and finished in a de Medici collar of white batiste or embroidery with cuffs to match.

The plain part of the skirt is laid in even folds at the center front and back of the waist line, and drapes softly down across the sides. The space over the hips is filled in with the flowered cloth mounted at the waist with even gathers and gathered again at the lower edge. A small flower-trimmed hat, such as the one sketched, will look best with such a costume.

PILGRIM BIBLE CLASS BANQUETS AT DURAND'S

Durand's cafe was the scene Tuesday evening of an enthusiastic gathering of young men when the Pilgrim Bible class of the Central Congregational church was given a banquet by J. Walter Hoyt, superintendent of the Sunday school in recognition of the rapid growth of the class, to fifty-five young men.

The class has not only become a valuable part of the church and Sunday school, but under the able direction of their teacher, Mrs. George Loring Hanscom, the members have taken up benevolent work in the city have aided the Girls' Night school, and are now formulating plans for mission work in some of the convict camps of Fulton county.

George Starr Peck, the president, who acted as toastmaster was in his happiest vein, and wit and humor reigned during the evening. The banquet closed with a forceful and stirring appeal by the minister, Dr. George L. Hanscom, for a virile and manly Christianity to face and solve the problems confronting the church and society at the present time.

Talks on interesting subjects formed a part of the evening's entertainment, and each one contained a tribute to Mrs. Hanscom for her leadership and her devotion to her boys.

CARNEGIE MAKES CHIEF TALK TO PEACEMAKERS

Fourth American Peace Congress Begins Three-Day Session in St. Louis

(By Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, May 1.—The fourth American peace congress began a three-day session here this morning, with delegates present from all parts of the country.

The chief address of the morning was delievered by Andrew Carnegie.

Benjamine F. Trueblood, secretary of the American Peace society, spoke on "The Present Demands of the Peace Movement."

"We must urge," he said, "that all controversies not acceptable of adjustment by direct negotiations be submitted to the court of arbitration at The Hague or to other tribunals, which it may be found advisable to create. We have heard too much about national honor and 'vital interests' and half-splitting distinctions between justifiable and non-justifiable disputes. Are we not trying to conceal a hankering after war and pillage every time we use one of these vague and indefinable terms? There are no unarbitral controversies in our day between nations were independence mutually is recognized."

Mr. Trueblood said that when the present administration at Washington takes up arbitration treaties, every possible influence must be brought to bear on the senate to get ratification of the compacts.

He also urged that the United States take the lead for an agreement among the powers for a limitation of armaments.

LANE TO SETTLE THE IRRIGATION DISPUTES

Differences Between Officials of Reclamation Service and Water Users Before Office

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Differences of opinion between officials of the reclamation service on one hand and users of water from various government irrigation projects on the other hand, are expected to be threshed out at conferences which began here today.

Secretary Lane invited the contending forces and interested members of congress to attend the conferences over which he will preside at the interior department.

It is the announced purpose of the secretary to develop clearly the differences between the officials and the water users over each project so he may make such changes in the administrative policy of irrigation and reclamation as may be shown to be desirable.

G. M. Bailey, interested in irrigation projects in Oregon, has proposed a plan to turn over the new lands to the department of agriculture for settlement after they have been completed by the reclamation engineers.

The delegates from the west who probably will be in session for a week or at least, have had many conferences during the past three or four days. They are meeting on the invitation of Secretary Lane, of the interior department, who was desirous of threshing out complaints leveled against the service. Beginning today, the delegates will meet with the secretary each afternoon and discuss the question thoroughly.

Taste of Desserts Effects Digestion

If dessert is flavored so it appears strongly to one's appetite, it becomes more healthful as a food, for the saliva flows more freely and mixes with the things we enjoy eating.

Blue Ribbon Vanilla is the real extract from choice vanilla beans. Its smooth delicate flavor is lasting and of uniform strength. Try it in cake. Use one teaspoonful to a quart of material.

Blue Ribbon real fruit flavors give a rare, natural fruit taste to custards, ice-cream, pudding, cake and candy, that will long be remembered. Each of the twelve different flavors is the best that can be made. They are economical, pure. Be sure it's the Blue Ribbon. Best grocers.

BROTHER HURRIES FROM THE WEST

To See Sister, Thinking She Would Die, But He Helped Her To Recovery.

Nashville, Tenn.—"I was passing through the critical stage of life," writes Mrs. Kate E. Weaver, of 1715 Cockrill Street, this city, "and for three years and nine months, to the day, I was in a serious condition. I could not walk alone across the floor, I was so weak.

My brother came from Dallas, Texas, to see me, thinking I was going to die. But he gave me the money to buy six bottles of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I began to improve with the second bottle. The six bottles made me well, strong and hearty.

Since getting well, I have been to see my brother in Dallas.

Have talked to several of my lady friends, and now they are taking Cardui —my daughter for one, and it is helping her. She is 27 years old, and I am nearly 51. Cardui helped us all.

I certainly do not know how to praise Cardui high enough. You may publish this letter if you wish, for Cardui certainly saved my life, and I cannot say too much for it.

I shall always recommend your wonderful medicine."

Cardui is good for young and old. It costs but little to try, and may mean so much to you.

NEW BATTING ORDER; BAUSEWEIN WILL WORK

Bisland Has Joined Team and Will Play Thursday—Long Leadoff Man

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 1.—In the hope of breaking his losing streak Manager Smith has a shift in his batting order, the biggest change being at the top where Long now appears with Agler second and Alperman shoved down to third place. The arrival of Bisland caused the release of Jack Kerman, the popular little infielder, who has been with the club since the start of the training season.

George Bausewein has been showing a bunch of stuff in the warming up practice and will get a chance to show his worth in the game today. Joe Dunn will again do the catching with Pat Graham in right and Tomy Long in left. This shift in the line up is due to Bailey's injury. When Bailey gets back in the game he will bat in fifth place, where the name of Graham now appears.

Bisland the new shortfielder, is to be started at short right off the reel. He arrived here at 11 o'clock Thursday morning and reported as being fit to jump right into the game and turn out his best services.

The loss of Wednesday's game has not disheartened the club in the least, all realizing that the best must experience a batting slump once in a while. With the exception of one round the club Wednesday played a jam up ball game. All were right in there all the time but you can't win when the hard drives don't sometimes fall safe.

The new batting order is as follows: Long, left; Agler, first; Alperman, second; Welchonce, center; Graham, right Smith, third; Bisland, short; Dunn, catcher, and Bausewein, pitcher.

Amateurs May Use Tech Park

Local amateurs will in all probability have the use this summer of two of the best diamonds in the city of Atlanta, the duo which are being laid out and rolled down at the new Grant field at Tech Flats.

These diamonds are almost completed, one on which the Tech team is playing all its regular games this season, is in fine shape. This is at the southwest end of the field. The other is situated at the northeast end. It will be finished soon.

The Tech team will, of course, not have any use for the Flats after school is out until next fall. The diamonds have been offered to the amateur ball players of the city, who are badly in need of grounds on which to play. In the Tech field they will procure fine ones.

Just what league the new diamonds will be assigned to is not yet known.

MOTOR TRACK COMING FAST

Work on then ew motordome which Jack Prince, racing promoter, is erecting on the old Jackson street show grounds, is progressing rapidly. All the necessary lumber is on the field and the grading work has started.

Mr. Prince announces that the track will surely be finished by May 20, and that the motor races will start immediately on its completion.

Offer of $30,000 Refused for Horse

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 1.—C. F. Bushmeyer, of Louisville, owner, of Hawthorn, the favorite for the Kentucky Derby, today refused $30,000 offered for the gelding by a syndicate of New York horsemen.

The owner gave as his reason that it was his life's ambition to win the Kentucky classic, and that he would not let money stand in the way of his chances.

National Billiard Tourney

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 1.—Chicago last night won first honors in the National Three-cushion Billiard league on points, a series of six games giving Chicago 288 points and Pittsburg, 272. While both cities equally divided the series in games won, Chicago players totaled the greater number of points in the play-off of a tie to settle the championship of the league.

James Shea played for Chicago in the final game last night against Joseph Wirsback and Charles McCourt, of Pittsburg, defeating the local men 50 to 48.

Bantams Scrap

WINDSOR, Ont., May 1.—Johnny Coulon, of Chicago, champoin bantamweight, last night knocked out Tommy Hudson, of Detroit, in the fifth round, indeed.

HOW GAMES WERE WON

James, a recruit hurler for the Doves, has won two of the Boston team's three victories, trouncing the Phillies 2 to 1 yesterday.

In the seventh inning of the Boston-Philadelphia game, the Phillies filled the bases with one out, but James held them scoreless.

Hans Wagner, it was stated at Pittsburg Wednesday, may be able to play in Boston next Tuesday. Honus has been out on account of a game leg.

Only one run was made off Marty O'Toole Wednesday, after he had relieved Robinson in the fourth. The Pirates lost 6 to 1, however.

The Dodgers made it two out of three from New York by trouncing the Giants handsomely, 5 to 3, Wednesday. Cutshaw won the game with a double in the seventh.

John J. McGraw was banished from the field in the ninth inning of the Brooklyn-New York game, Muggsy got huffy on some strike decisions of the umpire.

The Reds got their uniforms back again Wednesday and gave the Cubs a close race of it, losing out to them, 4 to 3. Twe homers resulted from drives which the Red gardeners mis-

Walter Johnson defeated Plank in a pitching duel Wednesday, the Senators winning 2 to 0. The Big Swede gave up four hits, Plank yielding but five. Plank fanned twelve batsmen, Johnson ten, each giving one base on balls.

Washington won from the Athletics in the ninth on a double steal and a bad throw, which went to the outfield.

The Red Sox got fourteen hits off of Schultz, the first Yankee pitcher, Wednesday, scoring almost at will, and defeated the Chancemen, 8 to 1.

Sommers and Case fought out a pitching duel at Chattanooga Wednesday, each yielding but four hits. The Lookouts won in the third on Street's single, a base on balls and Coyle's single, the final score being 2 to 1.

In four times at bat in the New Orleans-Memphis game, Bill Abstein got a triple, a two-bagger, and a single, also stealing a base.

Baltimore, farm of the Athletics, has released Infielder Tony Citrano and Catcher Jarosik to Raleigh, also an Athletic farm and managed by Connie's son, Earl. It will be hard to convince Carolinians baseball is an American game with those names on the list.

Reinstate Cobb On Thursday

Expected That Very Small Fine Will Be Levied Against the Georgia Boy

CHICAGO, May 1.—Owing to much routine business the National baseball commission was unable to take up Ty Cobb's application for reinstatement at Wednesday's meeting, but will surely get to it Thursday. The outcome is most likely to be a nominal fine and reinstatement.

Cobb was reinstated several days ago by President Ban Johnson, of the American league, pending the final settlement of his case by the commission. It will be remembered Cobb was suspended when he refused to join the Detroit club during the spring training. At that time he was a holdout but since settling his differences with the Tiger club he applied for reinstatement and this is sure to come.

GAINOR GETS LAST CHANCE

DETROIT, Mich., May 1.—This is Del Gainor's last chance to stick with the Tigers. If he falls down now Sam Crawford will surely draw that job and Roogie High will get back the outfield job.

Hughie Jennings really figured on keeping High in the game and switching Crawford to first right from the jump, but finally decided that Gainor might yet come back if not humiliated by being benched to allow an outfielder to play first.

Del is a sensitive sort of fellow and a move of this kind would just about end his big league career, for he'd never get over it. On the other hand High is a youngster glad of the chance to hold down any kind of a job with the Tigers and being benched to make room for Ty Cobb isn't going to affect his playing at all.

Just the same it's up to Del to deliver in a hurry or Crawford will get that first base job.

Boer Champ Gets Decision on Foul

NEW YORK, April 30.—After an unintentional foul by Fred Fritts, heavyweight champion of the United States navy, in the third round, the referee gave George Rodel, the Boer champion, the decision in their scheduled ten-round bout in Brooklyn last night.

Three Leagues Start

NEW YORK, April 30.—With the start of play in three more minor leagues today, the baseball season in the east gets into full swing. The new entrants are the New York State, the New England and the Tri-State leagues.

All these leagues are long-established organizations and their pennant races always develop spirited rivalry.

Wolgast Now Manager

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Ad Wolgast, former lightweight champion of the world, has announced himself as manager for Willie Hogne, a local boxer who knocked Wolgast down during the latter's last training season as champion.

One Bad Round Beat Musser; Four Losses

Bill Foxen Twirled Like a Star Performer—Joe Dunn Did Most of the Hitting for Defeated Outfit

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 1.—One bad inning and J. William Foxen beat the Crackers yesterday afternoon, the Barons copping their only runs of the battle, six in number, in the fourth. Atlanta could get but two.

The Honorable Bill whifled eleven of the opposing clubsters, and gave but six hits, these being scattered rather widely throughout the game. Blondie Musser did extremely satisfactory work, save for the one disastrous round in which Birmingham swept all before them, a deluge of bingles and some daring base running.

McBride began this fourth inning with a single to left. On the hit and run McGilvray single to right, McBride taking third. Big Bill managed to take second on the throw-in, Carroll kicked in with another screaming one-bagger, scoring the two runners.

The hit and run was worked again. As Ellam bounded one to short Williams started toward second, expecting to catch Carroll stealing. The ball rolled out into left field, and Carroll ambled around third.

Blondie Paul here settled down a bit, fanning Mayer. Bill Foxen was passed and the bags were reeling. Marcan hit to Williams and Carroll was forced at the plate, leaving the bases still jagged, with two down.

Herndon beat out a slow roller toward first, and Ellam counted. On Musser's wild return to the plate to head the runner Foxen also romped in. Bodus slapped a single to deep center and Marcan and Harndon scored. Bodus was slain in an attempt to run off with the keystone.

The Crackers scored one run in the fifth inning. Long walked, took second on a balk, and scored on Dunn's single. Joseph and Tommy did about all the hitting for their club, getting two bingles apiece.

In the ninth Smith singled, Long singled, moved up on a passed ball, and the former scored on Williams' sacrifice fly.

Jordan Draws His Release

Popular Player Will Likely Land as Manager of Some Class B Outfit

Otto Jordan, prince of ball players, is now a free agent, the ex-Cracker leader having been given his unconditional release by the Chattanooga management as a reward for faithful service.

Though a free agent, Otto does not intend to stop playing ball. He is willing and anxious to land with somé good team and no matter whether it is in the Southern or a smaller organization, he will be cual to the job of playing jam-up ball. Jordan yet has many years of good service left and his willingness to always give his employer the very best he has is what makes him doubly valuable.

Right now Jordan is in correspondence with several clubs and will likely re-enter the game shortly. He prefers to land a job as fanager of some class B or C team and this he will most likely do. Right now there are several lower class clubs that are without a manager and Jordan is in a good position to take one of these places. Charlkesdale, Miss., of the Cotton States league, is dickering with him and it is undrstood that Albany, of the Sally circuit, would also like to pick up a man of Otto's class.

Jordan is a ball player who appreciates his eployer and no matter where he is signed he is sure to turn out the very best he has, and he is far, far from being all in.

Finn Drops Three

MOBILE, Ala., May 1.—Mobile has released Pitcher Kirby secured from the Giants. Outfielders Tom Rafferty, with Wilkesbarre last year, and Outfielder William McGill, a semi-pro from Newark, N. J. The latter will go to Pensacola.

MADISON, Wis., May 1.—The assembly indorsed the Heddin boxing bill, which allows ten-round, no-decision bouts. A canvass of the senate indicates that the measure will pass that body.

SEWANEE PLAYS TECH; OPENING GAME FRIDAY

Tigers Have Good Ball Club and Some Real Good Ball Will Be Shown

The Sewanee team will end a long road trip the last part of this week with two games at Tech Flats on Friday and Saturday, the Tigers having played Mercer an even break series Monday and Tuesday and lost a double-header to Florida Wednesday.

Tech is reay for the beasty invader. The Yellowjackets have been put through the grill this week by Coach Heisman. The boys made a very indifferent showing against Alabama, and Coach has been working hard to get better stuff in them.

By the Sewance game they should probably be in either the best or the worst shape they have been this year. Tech wants to win from Sewanee, not only because she has nearly always won from the mountaineers, but because a few wins are badly needed in the Tech scrap book this year. The team has been none too successful in its season thus far, and a sweep of the Sewanee series will look very classy to Blackmith eyes.

NEED INDIVIDUALITY

Players Rely Too Much Upon What They Are Told to Do, Ty Cobb Shows That Individual Play is Possible

BY JULIAN MURPHEY.

More individuality is fast creeping into baseball and the faster it appears the better are the results obtained. The old stereotyped fashion of the manager following ideas and plays laid down by some great field general years ago and making his players implicitly follow these rules is going out of fashion and the quicker it disappears the better off the game will be.

Ten years ago a ball player was not expected to have any individuality in playing the game, but the recent work of Ty Cobb has plainly demonstrated that players as well as managers are able to fashion plays and execute them without always being told just what to do and when to do it. The Detroit player has shown that individuality is possible and now every team is taking it up to some advantage and within another few years they will all be trying it.

TEAM PLAY NECESSARY.

In stating that individuality helps the game it is not meant to convey the impression that team work is to be abolished. Team work is absolutely necessary in winning ball games. Without it you would have a bunch of athletes running wild on the paths, never signalling the base runner or batter and never properly playing a ball. This would develop a state of chaos which would ruin the game.

By speaking of individuality is meant the giving of more authority to each player and not make him rely entirely upon one man to map out his every move. Of course some managers and field leaders know far more than the average player and are better equipped to map out the play, but if individuality were only added to this asset the success would be twofold. A ball player who is good enough to play baseball on a real ball club certainly possesses some individuality and should be allowed to try it.

Take the case of Ty Cobb. Hughey Jennings, his manager, does not dictate to him just when and what he shall do each time he comes to the plate or gets on the bases. He notices the defense of the opposition and lays his own plans for action. Then when the occasion arises he is prepared to put into execution immediately just what he has planned instead of awaiting some signal from the manager. This waiting for singles takes time and will often kill a good play.

OTHER PLAYERS GOOD.

In the game today are ball players with just as much baseball sense as Ty Cobb. The only difference is that Cobb is allowed to use his own headwork and the others are not. Cobb has shown that individuality is possible and that the many plays he pulls are entirely probable. If Cobb can get away with this kind of work here are others who can succeed at least to a small per cent. And even 20 per cent of perfection in this individual work would be a big help as it would be added to the old line of the manager mapping out the plays. In other words two heads can surely accomplish more than one.

The plan of allowing individuality has already struck the majors and is fast being recognized by the minor leaders. It is a charge that is sure to come and those who take it up first will get the better results.

Sewanee Loses Double-Header

GAINESVILLE, Fla., May 1.—Fresh from a victorious shutout with Mercer at Macon on Tuesday, the chip was knocked off Sewanee's shoulder Wednesday in a double-header by Florida.

Sewanee acknowledged to be one of the strongest college teams ever playing here, but was an off day with the University of the South, who were worn out by an all night travel.

Florida copped both games. First game, 6 to 4; second, 9 to 8. Batteries: Florida, Davies, Shaw and Tenney. Sewanee, Eggleston, Goodwyn and Dinkins.

The games were featureless and the pitchers were hit hard.

The last game of the season on the local ground will be between Florida and Sewanee Thursday.

FEATHERS TO SCRAP AGAIN

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Negotiations were begun today for a return match between Johnny Kilbane, the featherweight champion, and Johnny Dundee, who fought a twenty-round draw with him at Vernon Tuesday night. The contest was unsatisfactory in every way, according to the newspaper comment.

Although Kilbane led easily on points the draw decision was commended on the ground that Dundee was the aggressor and coming in at all times, albeit Kilbane landed more.

Tom McCarey and "Scotty" Monteith, manager of Dundee, expressed the hope of putting on the return match in two or three months, preferably July 4.

It was the consensus of opinion among fight frequenters today that neither boy would make good against a lightweight—the often expressed ambition of each. Kilbane did not seem to have a knockout punch and Dundee, with his peculiar habit of leaping as he launched a blow, also lacked steam.

Use Baseball In Arithmetic

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Baseball is being injected into the curriculum of the schools of the national capital as an aid in the teaching of arithmetic. This developed today when groups of school children were discovered reading the baseball news and eagerly interrogating each other as to the best means of figuring averages.

It transpired that teachers in arithmetic have been using problems in their classes such as the following:

If "Chick" Gandil is at bat forty times and makes twelve hits, what is his average?"

"If the Nationals win eleven games out of fifteen what per cent do they lose?"

The new system is said by the instructors to be highly successful. Thoroughly interested in the national sport the children are said to take real joy in solving the problems and the same process is utilized in problems in linear and square measurement and, in the case of the less advanced pupils, in addition and substraction. The baseball diamond now is one of the commonest diagrams to be found on the blackboards of the schools of the capital.

Hurling Box At Mack Field Is Too High

Manager Griffith Claims Slab Is Greatly Elevated, but He Won't Make Any Official Protest

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 1.—Members of the Washington team have made a discovery at Shibe park that may be an explanation of the success of the Athletic pitchers, and may lead to a Protest before the campaign has advanced much further.

The pitchers' box at the grounds here is raised several inches above the rest of the diamond, giving the twirlers a distinct advantage over the batters. The centers of all diamonds are sufficiently elevated to afford proper drainage, but at Shibe park the mound is several inches higher than in other cities. The discovery was made from the dug-out that has been assigned the Nationals, and was freely commented upon by the pitchers and other players who inspected the situation.

Mr. Griffith is so thoroughly opposed to alibis that he will make no official report on the contour of the field, but will leave the matter to the other managers who visit here. If they are satisfied there will be no trouble from a Washington standpoint.

A raised box is supposed to be particularly advantageous to left-handers, and when the nature of the mound here became known there was some pretty general comment anent the great game which Eddie Plank pitched against the New Yorkers the day previous to the arrival of the Griffmen.

One-Hit Game For Georgian

ATHENS, Ga., May 1.—Georgia made it two in a row Wednesday afternoon when the entertained Vanderbilt at their second goose-egg party. With Henderson off first base on account of the mumps, and Covington protested, the Georgia infield looked new, but it performed in great fashion. Bowden holding down first and Holden third—Bowden rapped out three of Georgia's ten hits.

Morris, though a trifle wild, held Vanderbilt to one hit. This hit was just touched by Clements but was an impossible chance.

Lack, of Vanderbilt, was hit four times, twice for extra bases in the first inning. After this he pitched better ball, but received miserable support, the Vanderbilt men throwing the ball wildly. Only one error was charged to the Georgia team, two fast double plays being pulled off. On the offensive, Ginn, Bowden and Clements were the stars. Ginn rapped out two doubles, Bowden a double an two others, and Clements got one hit and three stolen bases.

Harvard Athletes Work By Ragtime

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 1.—The effect of music in making Harvard athletes move faster is being tried at the big locker building on Soldiers' field. A phonograph is in constant operation grinding out ragtime to keep students at concord pitch.

Accommodations in the locker building are limited and it has been found difficult in the pas to care for the crowd during the rush hours. Under the spell of the music students are said to be much more speedy in going through the shower baths, putting on their street clothing and making way for other men.

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

THE RIME OF THE ANCIENT YANKEE ROOTER.

The Jinx-bird refuseth to flutter its pinions.
And Hope arrived, but still the Jinx
Refused to run away,
Though pennants came to Boston and
Detroit to beat the well known band,
And Phil-a-del-phi-a.

In February I did read
In sheets of high esteem
That we were rounding into shape
And that we had Some Team.

In March it seemed a pennant crew;
My hopes ascended high,
And, looking upward, I beheld
A something in the sk..

Dope springeth eternal in the Rooter's breast; his team ne'er is, but always to be, best.
In March it seemed a little speck,
In April seemed a mist;
We won a game and then it took
A certain shape. I wist.

A speck, a mist, a shape I wist,
And still it neared and neared;
And then it took a look at us
And plunged and tacked and veered.

The Rooter glimpseth the bunting in a vision.
With throat unslaked, with black lips baked,
My tongue I could not wag;
Trembling with joy all dumb I stood—
I shaved so close it cost me blood.
And cried, "THE FLAG! THE FLAG!"

Tuffluck wallopeth the team.
Then Derrick hurt himself a lot
A-sliding on his pants,
And Sweeney broke his finger, and
His legs deserted Chance.

We slumped and bumped and downward jumped.
And the Jinx-bird jeered at me;
But never a soul took pity on
My soul in agony.

I looked to heaven and tried to pray.
But found it did no good;
Their arms were lame, their legs were cracked,
The beans were built of wood.

O dope, it is a blessed thing,
Beloved by Greek and Pole,
But after every game we were
But deeper in the hole.

Eleven years and more I've said
"We'll cop the flag this year."
Eleven times and more I've seen
My hopes all disappear.

Farewell, farewell, but this I tell
To thee, O passerby;
Don't ever brag about the flag
Until it's in N. Y.

The ancient Rooter slippeth over some sapient stuff.
He winneth best, or East or West—
Insert this in your dome—
That winneth games upon the road
And winneth games at home.

The Ancient Rooter cranked his car
A sudden and a wiser fan
He rose the morrow morn.

Three Games With Howard

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ANNISTON, Ala., April 30.—Coach Hannon, of the Alabama Presbyterian college Preds, has arranged a series of three games with Howard college to be played in this city Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The Preds feel greatly elated over the victory over Cumberland university Monday afternoon, and in celebration they held a lock-step night shirt parade through the city Monday night, invading the movies and taking the town.

Again the Lookouts Prune; This Action May Be Final

Starke and Massey Are Sent Out for More Seasoning in Minors

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., May 1.—For the third and, as he hopes, for the last time Elberfeld has completed a weeding out process this season. The latest observation of the salary and player limits was secured by the release of "Red" Massey to the Galveston club of the Texas league and that of Eddie Starke to the New London club. These two releases were made necessary by the acquisition of Rudy Sommers and Harry Thrasher.

As the team will finally stand, that is unless deals which are not now even contemplated are consummated later in the season, Thrasher, King and Ellston will compose the outfield; with Gillespie, Elberfeld, Flick and Coyle on the infield. The hurling staff will remain as at present with Troy, More, Chappelle, Coveleskie and Sommers. No change has ever been contemplated in the receiving department since "Gabby" Street was signed. The line-up just penned leaves "Dug" Harbison in the utility role to fill any gap which may appear in the inner or the outer defense.

The battle array now at Elberfeld's disposal in his estimation, as in the estimation of all fair-minded individuals, is truly formidable, and locally there is a belief that if the Lookouts can shake off the present jinx, secure a little confidence, and use a little better judgment in the finer points of the game, they will yet be real contenders in the race.

The passing of Massey and Starke sent too really promising youngsters back to the bushes for additional seasoning, but with the club going as badly as it has been the Kid simply could not take any chances with ray material. The release of Massey and Sstarke does not indicate or even intimate that they do not have bright careers in front of them. In fact, many local fanatics are of the opinion that they should have been retained for further seasoning.

The addition of seasoned men like Sommers and Thrasher has provided the Lookouts with an air of confidence that was replaced by diffidence while so many youngsters were in the line-up.

NEW PLAYERS ARE NEEDED

After studiously watching the Yankees there is but one conclusion to be reached. The ability of the players is not all that it is supposed to be. There is no use "beating around the bush" about this. It is too apparent. Some pitchers are needed, and needed badly, and some infielders are just as much in demand.

Where to get the material with which to bolster these departments is the problem that Chance faces, and it is some problem. The time has passed when good players can be purchased from other big league clubs for simply a monetary consideration. Good players are scarce and these clubs that possess them, even though the clubs may be well fortified, are unwilling to part with them unless they get a player or players in exchange who will be of some use.

Polo Captain Resigns

LONDON, April 30.—Walter S. Buckmaster has resigned the captaincy of the English polo team, which is to compete with the American team for the international polo cup on Long Island in June. Buckmaster was injured in a practice game April 13.

Captain Lockett, of the Eaton Hall team, has been invited to replace him.

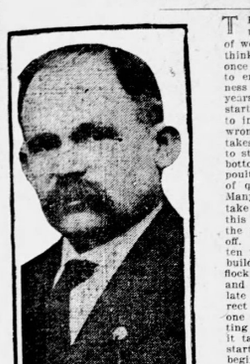
POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

Starting a Herd of Cattle Or a Flock of Chickens



THERE are but few people who undertake either of these lines of work that ever realize or stop to think and figure a little when they once become interested and attempt to enter the fancy breeding business what their future will be ten years hence, or the future in their first start and what it really amounts to in the end by starting right or wrong. Many will think that it takes quantity and will undertake to start at the top rather than the bottom and both in cattle and in poultry will have numbers instead of quality in sight all the time. Many of this class make a big bluff and if they would only realize this in the beginning, rather than the end they would be far better off. For instance, after eight or ten years' time has been spent in building up a herd of cattle or a flock of chickens one can look back and see their mistakes. It is too late then usually to attempt to correct them or start over. Therefore, one cannot be too careful in getting started right. Even though it take longer it is far better to start with something good in the beginning rather than to take something ordinary for your foundation. I have in mind a man who started many years ago to breed up a herd of dairy cows. He bought good foundation blood but not thoroughbreds or animals that had any known blood behind them, only they were individuals. Every year by close culling he has kept his best and has at last worked up a herd of very profitable dairy animals consisting close to one hundred head. He has carefully kept the records of these animals for a number of years and knew exactly what each cow made or earned for him. He has spent eight or ten years in this work and building this herd of cattle. They have made money and are valued at what they can do every day at the pail and are easily worth an average of $100 per head. On the other hand, if this party had begun with thoroughbred registered animals of the same quality the original cost in the beginning would have cost him about $500 more money and today the difference that a herd of thoroughbred registered animals with such records as he has behind his her' of grades, the same number of cattle would easily be worth $500 per head instead of $100, which would make for him a difference in the eight years of actual dollars and cents that he would be worth today if he had probably spent $500 more in the beginning it would mean to him today not less than $10,000 to say the least of it. This is an instance that I have watched closely and my figures are based on fair prices and actual facts and results.

But, how few people see things in this light when they start. They are the things that should be considered in beginning any line of live stock, poultry or farming operations, and there should be carefully figured on before going too far. I know of a number of poultry breeders who have done likewise. For instance, I know of one party who for four years from cheap, ordinary birds attempted to breed prize winners, but never during that time even though a large number were raised, and a few of the best selected was this party ever able to produce a bird of the blue ribbons. But, he made a new start and converted several hundred birds into five good ones that had the proper line breeding behind them. The result has been that in the past two years this party has scarcely lost a first or second prize in the strongest of competition, and during this time has furnished many prize winners to others and has made more money in one year from this beginning of five good birds than they had previously made in five years by using several hundred ordinary ones.

Yours very truly,
(TO BE CONTINUED.)

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.

Harrison, Ga.: I am having trouble with my little chickens with sore head. I had about fifteen hatched in January to die with it. I have now 50 hatched in March that are just beginning to take it. I would thank you very much if you could tell me something to do for them. The disease starts with little sores around the eyes and top of head, it swells until the eyes are entirely closed. I have done everything that I know what to do. The chicks are in a perfectly sanitary place. Would greatly appreciate any information you will give me. C. L. W.

ANSWER.

It is something unusual for sore head to appear among chickens at this season of the year. I am inclined to believe that your chickens have cold or a slight touch of roup instead of sore head. However, if they have sore head if you will treat the well ones as well as the sick ones with an application of one pint of raw linseed oil to which has been added one ounce of carbolic acid, only two applications of this will cure the sore head. Use only a small amount. Do not put too much grease on them. It is all right to use Epsom salts in the drinking water twice a week to prevent or stop the spread of sore head in the flock of chickens, but it should not be used with young chickens under four weeks old.

QUESTION.

Gorzon, Ga.: Will you please tell me the trouble with my hens? I have a fine Rhode Island Red. She is troubled with her neck or head. It seems to be in her neck. When she stands she holds her head down between her feet, or if she holds it up at all she has got it lent away over one sided as though she had no use for her neck at all. When she walks she is like she is drunk and can't govern herself in the way she want to go. She falls down and walks. She does not eat at all only as we force it in her. Please state the trouble and a remedy for same. Has been affected about a week.

ANSWER.

The hen has become affected with some nervous trouble which often affects chickens, and usually after they recover they have a weakness in their system that leaves them almost unfit for use. With a good dose of vaseline as large as the end of your finger given in the mouth twice a day may loosen up her system and thoroughly cleanse her out and she may recover from the illness. But I do not would be useless to undertake to keep her and cure her. Chickens, like people, often become upset from no apparent cause and unless they are valuable they are not worth doctoring.

QUESTION.

Howell Ga., Please write me at your earliest convenience what to do to get rid of lice on chickens. Is it well to paint the roost poles with coal tar? Thanking you in advance, I am, MRS. L. A. C.

ANSWER.

The best way to get rid of lice is to dip your chickens in a solution of one part of water to fifty parts of Beo Dee Dip. This should be done during the middle of a warm day. Painting the roost with a thin solution of gas tar will kill mites, but does not kill lice on chickens.

TERMINAL DISTRICT

ONE of the best opportunities in Atlanta real estate today is in the large section lying in between the Southern and A., B. & A. railroads. This section is about two blocks wide and it extends from Magnolia street out as far as Bellwood avenue.

IN THIS QUARTER you can buy good sized pieces of land, improved with renting houses, property that yields a fair income and has speculative possibilities.

AS AN ILLUSTRATION, we can sell the southeast corner of Magnolia and Magnum streets, fronting 198 feet on Magnum street, for $7,000. This lot contains six buildings, five residences and a store, bringing in $60 a month. It is one of those good corners that in time will be necessary in assembling a block of land, and will bring a fancy price.

ON SIMPSON STREET we can sell an entire block of frontage for $5,000. It lies in between Davis [illegible] streets, fronting 214 feet [illegible] extending back 130 feet. All three streets are paved and have all improvements down. This is the block with the old stone house on it.

HERE is a choice little factory site bordering directly on A., B. & A. railroad; the southwest corner of Fee and Wilson streets. It fronts 220 feet on the railroad and has three renting houses. Price $2,500.

WEST SIDE values are low in comparison with other sections, and they are sure to go up in the process of equalization. All forward-looks us in the matter of west side investments for future use.

MISS ANNIE KENNEY IS PLACED IN ENGLISH JAIL

Press of England Declares That Militancy Among Suffragettes Is Crushed

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, May 1.—Miss Annie Kenney, one of the most prominent of the militant suffragettes, was arrested today on her arrival in England from the continent. A detective had accompanied her from Paris, bearing a warrant charging her with conspiracy.

Miss Kenney was arraigned late at the Bow street police court, and remanded until tomorrow by the magistrate, who refused to grant bail.

The police still are in possession of headquarters of the Women's Social and Political union, the militant suffragette organization in Kingsway. Members of the union are seeking some means of publishing The Suffragette, which is due today, but the type and all the other printing materials were seized yesterday in the police raid.

Notwithstanding the repressive activity of the police, the campaign of arson conducted by the militant suffragettes was continued this morning.

A large stable at Hendon, a northwestern suburb of London, was set on fire and practically destroyed. A placard with the words "Votes! votes! votes! beware!" was found pasted on the premises.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, of New York, left for Paris today. Before her departure she said:

"The British government learns nothing from history. The present coercive measures against the suffragettes are bound to fail.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, of New York, intends today to attend a meeting of protest against the payment of taxes by the Duchess of Bedford. Distraint was levied on the property of the duchess on April 21, and a silver cup belonging to her was taken by the tax collectors to satisfy the claim.

The determined stand which the government appears to have taken against suffragette militancy beginning with its raid yesterday upon the headquarters of the Women's Social and Political Union with the arrest of six leaders, is commended by some of the London Press.

The Standard calls it "the doom of the militants" and believes that although the movement may cause some small annoyance even after the loss of the leaders, the ratification can do nothing effective. It continues:

"An attempt will probably be made to re-establish the Women's Social and Political Union elsewhere, probably under another name. If so, the people must take another raid and continue the process until the whole fabric of militance is shattered. To keep the militants on the run is the surest way to extinguish their activity. The vitality of militancy which has ceased to have any real connection with the vote has lost the sympathy of the great mass of suffragists cannot survive the destruction of its organization."

The Daily Mail declares editorially that the authorities are taking the right course.

The liberal papers make no comment on yesterday's events.

The suffragettes managed this afternoon to issue their paper, the Suffragette, in spite of the warning of the government counsel.

The number consisted of eight pages, the front page containing only the one word "Raided" in large type. Most London news dealers refused the publication and only a few women were selling it in the streets.

A boat house on the Thames, opposite Hampton court palace, together with a number of boats, was destroyed by suffragettes early today.

GREENVILLE PLANS FOR MONSTER WEEK

HOUSE REACHES SUGAR SCHEDULE OF TARIFF

the farmer holds dear on the free list, the wool section, which will precipitate the struggle of the opposition to free raw wool and the income tax with its graduated system that is expected to bring $100,000,000 into the treasury coffers annually, were in sight when the Democratic leader reviewed the situation as the discussion began today.

The leaders were confident, however, that there would be no disturbance of the caucus-approved bill, and the minority was wearying of the steady fight, with scores of constantly rejected amendments.

The sparring of the parties for political advantage has been good-natured in the main, and an occasional sparkle of wit with clashes between individual members has leavened the monotony of debate over dry figures.

Representative Sims, of Tennessee, was questioning the reason for duty on motorcycles, and asked if the committee regarded them as luxuries or necessities.

TAX ON NUISANCES.

"My boy has two of them," answered Leader Underwood, "and I would call them nuisances."

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, called them "these little choo-choo affairs that are a cross between the bicycle and the automobile."

Just before taking up the wood schedule the last paragraph of the metal schedule was reverted to on a late amendment submitted by Representative Greene, of Massachusetts. Greene, a Republican, declared that jewelers and jewelry workmen in his district, who said they voted for President Wilson, had protested against the Underwood rate of 25 per cent on metals partly composed of platinum or silver or goldplated. They urged restoration of the Payne rates. An amendment to restore them was voted down.

Placing sugar on the free list would result in the turning of the Hawaiian Islands over to the Japanese, said a letter Senator Works had read in the senate today from the Episcopal bishop of Honolulu.

"It would drive nine-tenths of the white population, other than the troops, from the islands and leave it in the hands of Japanese who might be able to exist on the reduced profits from work on sugar plantations," said the letter.

Six Democratic western senators today carried their protests against the tariff bill to President Wilson. The senators were Newlands, Chamberlain, Lane, Thompson, Shafroth and Walsh.

The sugar and wool schedules were principally under consideration.

As the senators left the White House they declined to discuss the conference.

It is believed that the president listened to the views of the senators instead of giving his and will not commit himself until he has had an opportunity to confer with other leaders.

Later the president issued the following statement:

"It was not a conference to arrive at any conclusion, but merely for the purpose of effecting a frank interchange of views as to the possible effects of several schedules of the tariff upon the industries of the states represented by the senators present.

The Oriental labor question on the Pacific coast and its effect on the shingle industry was discussed at length.

Representative Raker, of California, became involved in a controversy with Representative Falconer, of Washington, in which Mr. Falconer declared the Democrats were endeavoring to aid the Japanese to get into California, and that the Democrats were Japanese-Chinese-Hindu lovers.

The debate bristled with personalities. Representative Humphrey, of Washington, attacking Representative Palmer, of Pennsylvania, drawing from him a spirited reply in which the Washington member was charged with *once being the chief beneficiary in mile*age graft.

Both Mr. Humphreys and Republican Leader Mann clamored to interrupt Mr. Palmer to reply, but he declined to yield. Representative Garrett, presiding, had considerable difficulty restoring order.

Amendments increasing proposed duties in the wood schedule were voted down one after another, one on shingle rates bringing a test vote of 55 to 194.

Consideration of the sugar schedule was then begun, Representative Fordney offering the Payne law rates as a substitute for the rates in the bill.

Mr. Fordney declared that throughout the tariff hearings and even in the special sugar trust investigation a year ago, no person appeared interested in a lower rate on sugar or asked for free sugar, except importers and manufacturers of refined sugar from imported raw sugar.

"If sugar goes on the free list," he said, "the domestic cane industry must die, and the beet sugar industry either will be crushed or greatly injured. The public will be at the mercy of the American Sugar Refining company and Arbuckle brothers, as August Spreckles is planning a merger of the American and the Federal Sugar Refining company. With August Spreckles at the head of the industry in New York and his brother Rudolph, on the Pacific coast, the industry will perish."

Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, said Montana could not recover in a decade and in Colorado it meant the dismantling of seventeen beet sugar factories which paid $15,000,000 to Colorado farmers last year. He said the bill proposed the "dynamiting and confiscation of one hundred odd millions dollars of sugar factory property north and south, and that after the bill was in full effect "the law breaking sugar trust will have the country at its mercy.

Representative Samuel Smith, of Michigan, quoted Democratic National Committeeman Ewing and Senator Thornton, of Louisiana, as declaring that free sugar would not result in lowering the price to the consumer.

WORKS' NEWS CENSORSHIP BILL GETS A HARD RAP

District of Columbia Commissioners Praise Press and Say Censorship Is Inadvisable

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—"The publicity given by the press generally tends to lessen evil conditions and thus renders a useful service to the public," say the commissioners of the District of Columbia in a report submitted to congress today on the Works bill to provide a censorship of the news.

"That dread of publicity has a deterrant influence upon those disposed or tempted to crime, may be inferred from the fact that most offenders seek to avoid exposure of their misbehavior in newspaper reports."

For these reasons the commissioners believe the enactment of the proposed legislation is inadvisable.

for Iowa. Nineteen postoffices in this state were filled. It is stated that several weeks ago a number of Iowans were held up by the president, because it came to his knowledge that most of the men nominated were not progressive democrats. These names had been sent in at the suggestion of National Committeeman Martin Wade, who was a Clark man in the pre-convention fight.

Nominations by President Wilson today also included:

Receiver of public moneys at Leadville, Colo., Mrs. Annie G. Rogers, of Colorado.

Congressman Adamson today recommended to the postoffice department the appointment of Merritt L. Moore as postmaster at Bowdon, Carroll county, vice J. J. Walker, Republican.

Judge Will B. King, of Portland, Democratic national committeeman for Oregon, has been appointed chief counsel of the United States reclamation service, by Secretary Lane.

Mr. King was associate justice of the Oregon supreme court up to 1911.

CALIFORNIA WILL TAKE JAP BILL DURING DAY

Secretary Bryan Goes to Country to See Conditions Among Jap Farmers

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 1.—When the state senate convened today it expected to take up the Webb re-draft of the alien land law bill in the regular order of business without further conference with Secretary Bryan.

Senators Birdsall and Thompson, joint authors of the original bill, were confident that it would pass at once.

Mr. Bryan, who returned here from the banquet given him last night in San Francisco by the Panama Pacific Exposition directors, went by automobile with Governor Johnson for a sight at first hand of conditions as they exist in one of the Japanese farming colonies of Sacramento county.

Requests by Senators Wright, Shanahan and Caminetti for delay on the alien land bill, in order that it might be more materially considered, met with no consideration from the majority and the chair announced that the bill would come up in the regular course of business about 11:15 a. m.

OKLAHOMA FARMER IS KILLED IN PISTOL DUEL

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 1.—As an outgrowth of the Jay county seat controversy, Harvey Johson and Columbus Moore, two farmers living near Grove, fought a duel last night, in which Moore was shot through the heart and instantly killed. He was on Johnson's farm at the time.

Johnson gave himself up to the sheriff at Grove today and he asked for a trial at once. He says the killing was in self-defense. The men were on opposing sides in the county seat controversy.
